

Democrats See Roosevelt As Their Nominee

Predict Third Term Effort Left Party Be Thrown Into Confusion

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER

Washington — With the presidential election on exactly four months off, Democratic leaders were hustling preparations today for their party's July 15 convention and increasing indications that President Roosevelt would break tradition and accept a third term "draft."

Republicans, too, were thinking of casting an old custom aside as their 1940 standard bearer, Wendell L. Willkie, considered plans in New York for a 3-man strategy board in lieu of a single campaign director.

Willkie will come here Monday to discuss campaign plans with his running mate, Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon.

Talk of a Democratic ticket headed by President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull continued to overshadow speculation by a few party members that the chief executive might turn down the nomination at the last minute.

Might Cause Confusion High officials based their prediction of a Roosevelt acceptance partly on the assumption that an eleventh-hour declaration might turn the convention into confusion from which it might be difficult to recover in the ensuing campaign.

Others mentioned besides Hull as a Roosevelt running mate included Senator Byrnes of South Carolina, Supreme Court Justice Douglas of Connecticut and Washington state, Vice President Garner, Senator Lucas of Illinois, Paul V. McNutt of Indiana, Federal Security administrator, Speaker Bankhead of Alabama, and House Leader Rayburn of Texas.

Should the president decide not to seek a third term, leaders were fairly well agreed he will endorse Hull.

With the vanguard from Democratic committee headquarters ready to depart for Chicago Sunday to complete arrangements, congress plans to recess Thursday for the duration of the convention.

Predicts 5-day Session Senator Barkley of Kentucky, Democratic floor leader, predicted the convention would last five days "no matter what happened."

Party bigwigs look for a striking contrast between the Republican convention and that of the Democrats insofar as candidates' headquarters are concerned. At Philadelphia, 10 candidates had hotel suites with banners flying.

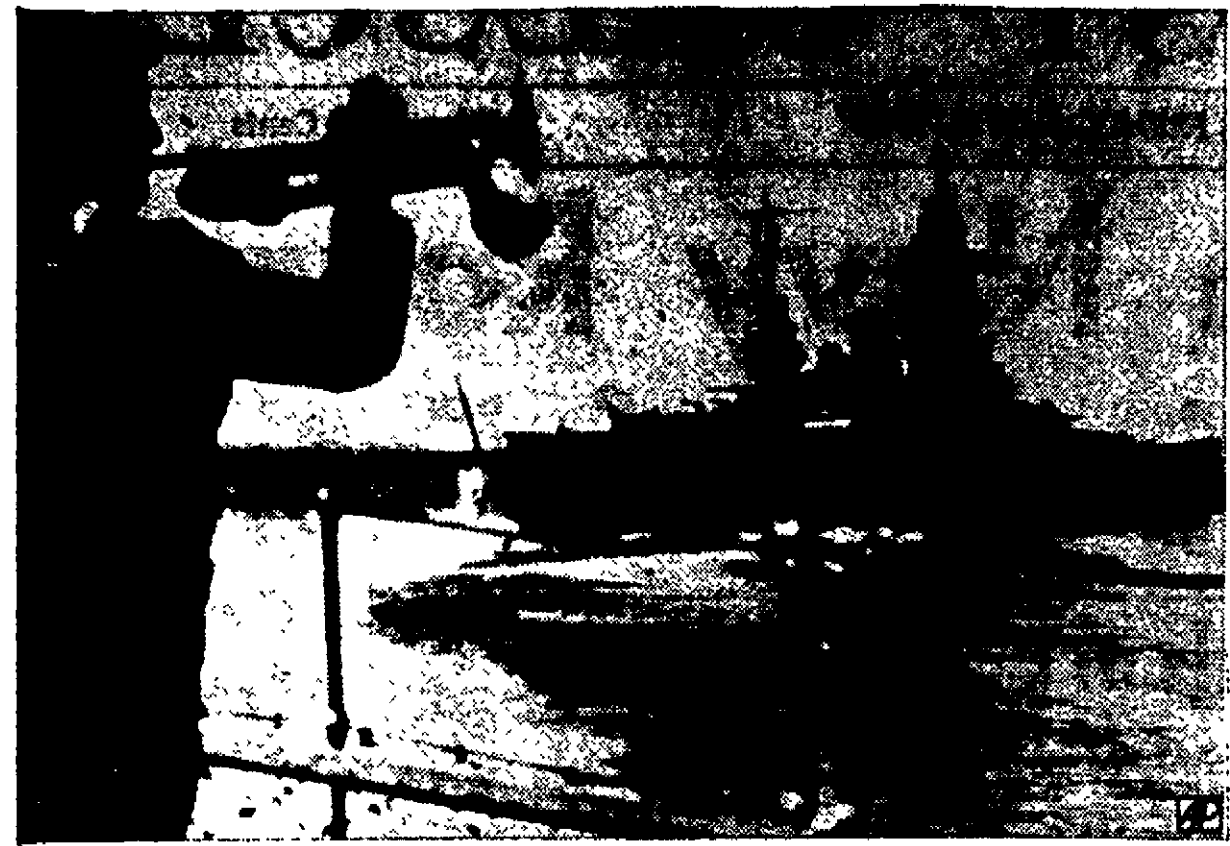

They expect a much smaller number at Chicago, with most ready to blare forth only "if" Mr. Roosevelt retires. Supporters of Senator Wheeler of Montana, however, announced that they were opening headquarters there.

Democratic leaders already were on record to make the New Deal program, both domestic and foreign, the main issue of the campaign. Leaders say that Mr. Roosevelt will edit, if not write, the bulk of the party platform.

Climbs High Tension Tower; In Hospital Now

Marquette — Roger Thiel, 15, of Milwaukee, suffered third degree burns when he touched a high tension electric wire carrying 66,000 volts while climbing a wire tower near Crivitz last night.

The jolt knocked the youth 60 feet to the ground. He was reported in critical condition at a hospital there.

FRENCH NAVY VALUELESS TO NAZIS—Great Britain, striking suddenly and decisively, destroyed, seized or put out of action virtually all important units of the French navy in a series of strokes unprecedented in naval history. It was reported that the French battleship Dunkerque (above) was involved in the action off Algeria and was severely damaged but escaped.

War Situation Today More Red Troops Move Into Balkans; French Navy Seized

Great Britain kept powerful units of the French fleet bottled up in Alexandria harbor today—ready to attack at the first gesture of defiance—as the German-mastered French government broke off diplomatic relations with its old ally.

It was clearly indicated that any French attempt to slip out of the harbor would result in a repetition of yesterday's Anglo-French naval action in the western Mediterranean—the greatest sea battle of the war.

New details of the flaming sea clash at Oran, French naval base in the Mediterranean, were disclosed in a French admiralty communiqué.

The French battleship Bretagne was blown up, it said, and the battleships Dunkerque and Provence and the flotilla leader Mogador were set on fire by long-range British shells.

Bomb Naval Bases While the British acted decisively to prevent the French fleet from aiding Hitler's projected invasion of the British Isles, German and Italian warplanes yesterday sniped at two British naval bases.

Italian planes twice showered bombs on Alexandria, England's great base in the Mediterranean, attacking both French and British warships at anchor in the harbor. The toll: 15 killed, 7 wounded.

A German raid on England's home naval base at Portland, on the southwest coast, killed 11 civilians. The Nazi high command also reported that German U-boats, in a new outburst of undersea warfare, had sunk 88,543 tons of British merchant shipping, while Nazi speedboats torpedoed two armed British tankers totalling 12,400 tons and "shot" two others totalling 20,000 tons, and German dive bombers sank four 5,000-ton transports—a grand total of 138,943 tons.

Soviet Russia's aims in the European conflict meanwhile grew more obscure.

New columns of Red army troops and mechanized equipment were reported arriving in Bessarabia, the Rumanian province seized by Russia last week, thereby strengthening the belief that Stalin is planning further demands on the harassed little Balkan kingdom.

Considerable mystery still clings to the Soviet grab in the Balkans and the Baltic as well, with some observers interpreting them as moves to counter Germany's sweeping conquest of half Europe.

Britons found a comforting warmth in this theory, hoping that eventually Russia and Germany would come to grips.

But today the Moscow newspaper Pravda, the official Communist party organ, asserted that Soviet moves were directed "against plans of the British-French war mongers"—and not against Germany.

Seek French Supplies Following up yesterday's naval battle, the British fleet scoured the seas to bring French warships still at large under its control.

An Italian source said that as a result of Britain's action both continental and colonial France henceforth will attack British vessels coming within the 12-mile coastal limits.

While Europe's attention centered on Britain's naval coup, Rumania lined up with the Rome-Berlin axis through formation of a new nationalistic, pro-German, anti-Semitic government.

King Carol II, whose kingdom has been dismembered by the cession to Soviet Russia of Bessarabia and northern Bucovina, yielded much of his power to the new premier, Ion Gigurtu.

Operate Trucks With Overloads; Pay Fines Two truckers pleaded guilty of driving trucks with overloads and were fined $5 and costs each by Acting Municipal Judge Fred V. Heinemann in municipal court this morning. The truckers are Eldred H. Hedrich, Oshkosh, and Emil Phillips, agent for Frederick and Phillips, Oshkosh. A state traffic policeman made the arrests.

City Asks Bids On Soil Paving

Proposals Will Be Accepted Without Including Cement

The board of public works will open bids on soil-cement stabilized pavements for two Appleton streets at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, July 18, in city hall.

The streets to be paved are N. Superior street from Parkway boulevard north to the city limits and W. Winnebago street from Richmond street to Badger avenue.

To speed the work and cut down the time of advertising for bids, Mayor Goodland Wednesday said the city will furnish cement needed on the two streets according to laboratory soil tests.

The soil-cement pavements will be the first to be tried in Appleton. It is not a cement pavement but a stabilization of the soil on the street with cement and water. Laboratory tests show the amount of cement and water to use with the various soils found on the street.

July 15 Deadline for Farm Truck Licenses

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison — George W. Rickman, commissioner of the state motor vehicle department, today repeated a warning to farm truck owners that their vehicles must bear new license plates by July 15.

No extension of time can be granted, he said. Affidavits for new vehicles or those which have changed ownership may be obtained from dealers or banks in rural communities or from state traffic patrol inspectors, he explained.

Gaining Control of French Navy Lifts English Prestige

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

New York — Britain's historic use of force to obtain control of the navy of her late ally has greatly increased England's powers of resistance to the impending Nazi attempt to destroy her.

Equally important may be the effect on the world at large. This demonstration of British determination—and sea power—will tend to halt the dry-rot which since the collapse of France has attacked the confidence of some neutrals in England's position and intentions.

I also is calculated to restrain nations which have shown decided inclinations to take advantage of Britain's involvement in this life-and-death struggle.

These are likely to be the immediate effects. It is difficult to see clearly beyond the carnage and destruction which still hang over Europe, but a permanent severance of the bonds of alliance which have held France and England together so long would be bound to have a far-reaching repercussion on the political situation in post-war days.

Await Outcome For many years the Anglo-French brotherhood has been dominant in European affairs. We shall have to await the outcome of the war to see what the fates have in store for that combination.

The British operations in disposing of the great French fleet haven't been finished, and there may be more fighting between brothers. However, the present position as indicated by British Premier Churchill is that "a large proportion of the French fleet has therefore passed into our hands or has been put out of action or otherwise withheld from Germany."

The London Daily Herald states that nearly 250 French warships have fallen into British possession.

While this greatly improves Britain's position, the nature of this added strength shouldn't be misunderstood. It probably lies more in the fact that Germany and Italy have been deprived of the use of the French navy than in the actual power added to the British fleet.

"Extremely Useful" Prime Minister Churchill says that the seized units will be "extremely useful," and that undoubtedly so. It shouldn't be overlooked, however, that in many cases the British will be unable to replace spare parts on the French ships, or provide munitions, because these differ from the English, and the French naval plants are in German hands.

Also, the French fleet was a tremendously important part of the allied blockade upon which they depended so much to defeat Germany. The operations of this blockade are so vast that they reach clear into the Pacific. Any weakening of it makes England's lone task just so much greater.

However, if the French fleet had fallen into the hands of the German-Italian enemy, it would have increased their sea power to approximate parity with that of Britain—a handicap which could easily be disastrous for the British. As it is, England will have an advantage in tonnage of more than two to one—probably nearer three—and in efficiency the difference is held by many naval experts to be far greater.

Answer 2 Alarms Firemen answered two alarms yesterday. The first at 9:30 in the morning was to the LaVilla restaurant, 130 E. College avenue, where a kerosene stove ignited. The second was to the 1400 block on S. Memorial drive to put out a grass fire.

Trio Will Canoe In Canadian Wilds Homer Gebhart, general secretary of the Appleton Y. M. C. A., will leave Saturday, with two companions, for his sixth canoe trip into the Canadian wilds. With him will be George Klein and Edward Hartwell.

The trio will be away for two weeks but will spend only six days on the water in a canoe stocked with everything needed for the trip. They will embark from a trading post on Sea Gull lake, northwest of Duluth and will travel in the Saganagan region.

City Police Make 66 Arrests Parking Violations Head List of Causes During Last Month

City police made 66 arrests during June, according to a report of Police Chief George T. Prim.

The charges included use of abusive language 2, assault and battery 1, attempted burglary 1, burglary 6, drunkenness 4, disorderly conduct 3, failure to stop after accident 1, parking within five feet of alley 1, passing arterial 1, parking over two hours 10, parking over 90 minutes 12, parking over 60 minutes 15, parking more than six inches from curb 1, operating car on left side of highway 1, speeding 1, keeping tavern open after hours 1, violating gun ordinance 1, vagrancy 1 and passing worthless checks 1.

The armored car was used in answering 212 calls and it traveled 540 miles during the month. Squad car No. 1 traveled 2,491 miles and squad car No. 2 2,286 miles.

State Young Progressives Will Convene

Senator LaFollette Will Give Address At Two-Day Meeting

Outagamie county Young Progressives will gather with others from all parts of the state at Portage this weekend for the state convention. Senator Robert M. LaFollette will give the main address Saturday.

Carl Thompson, Stoughton, will give the keynote address. Urban Van Susteren, Appleton, is a member of the platform committee.

One of the features of the 2-day meeting will be roundtable discussions on campaign issues, organization and education. Officers will be elected and a permanent constitution and platform of principals adopted.

Prof. N. P. Feinsinger of the state university law school will lead a forum in labor; the Rev. Urban Baer, Cashton, will discuss farm problems; and Norris Maloney, Dane county district attorney, will lead questions on the power problem.

Organizational work will be explained by Mrs. Phillip LaFollette and Jack Kyle, chairman of the state central committee, while educational issues will be presented by Ellis Robinson, Progressive leader and educator. Phillip LaFollette will speak Saturday afternoon.

Progressive leaders and candidates who have been invited to attend the convention will be introduced at a buffet-banquet Saturday evening.

The Height of Ease Ironton, O.—A(n) unidentified man snored peacefully for more than 12 hours a few inches from the edge of a two foot-wide bridge beam over the middle of the Ohio river. With utmost delicacy two painters awakened him.

Ice, Fuel Firm Begins Erection Of Locker Plant

Other Improvements Made in New London Business District

New London — New London Ice and Fuel company this week began construction of a new locker plant to be housed in a concrete block and frame building adjacent to the firm's office building. It will be 20 by 34 feet and have a 350-locker capacity. Lockers will have a 400-pound capacity. It is planned to open the new addition about the first of August. Walter J. Schoenrock, local contractor, designed the plant. Granger Transfer service this week purchased a new trailer which is now in use. The local company now operates three trailers with two tractors.

New Station
The new Cities Service station at the corner of Beacon avenue and S. Pearl street opened for business this week. The formal opening will be held when construction details are completed. Marshall Peterson of Shawano, a former New London resident, is manager of the station. The Dorothy Beauty shop will move from Rex hotel to 106 S. Pearl street, a location formerly occupied by New London Printing company. The building is being remodeled and redecorated, and will open Monday. The new name will be Beth Ann Beauty shop. Fred Baerwald, operator of a tavern at 216 N. Water street, purchased the 2-story building which houses the tavern from Leslie Freeman this week. Baerwald has been in business there two years.

New London — Pure Milks scored a run in the ninth inning Wednesday night to defeat Pure Oils, 3 to 2, and moved into a tie for Commercial League leadership. Dukes Herres pitched all the way for the winners, allowing only two hits. Charles Nader, on the mound for the losers, allowed six safeties.

Soffa scored for the Oils in the first, reaching first on an error and coming home on a double by Schultz. The last Oil run came in the third, Watkins walking and eventually scoring on an error. Singles by Farrell and Herres scored for the Milks in the third, with Collar's double placing Farrell in the fifth. In the ninth Platte walked, took second and third on errors and scored on Houk's long fly.

Royal Neighbors Entertain Members from Bear Creek

New London — Royal Neighbors of American entertained members of the Bear Creek camp at the New London group's regular meeting last night. Cards were played, with prizes awarded to Mrs. Agnes Scanlan and Mrs. Monty Joubert. The organization is planning its annual picnic, to be held Tuesday afternoon, July 16, at Hatten park. Chairmen are Mrs. George Humbert, lunch, Mrs. George White, adult entertainment, and Mrs. Merle McPaul, children's entertainment. Each member is to bring sandwiches, table service and a dish to pass.

Early Fishing Will Ruin Pike

Tests Prove April 20 Is Earliest Safe Date To Fish in Wolf River

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison — The state conservation department today again marshaled fresh scientific evidence to back its stand in one of the most controversial conservation problems in the state, the annual argument about the proper opening date for pike fishing on the famed Wolf river.

The department reported on data collected last spring by its biologist, Edward W. Schenberger, which together with similar information assembled for several previous years prove beyond argument, it said, that a fishing opening before April 20 will be ruinous to the future supply of wall-eyed pike in the great Wolf river water system. Local interests and the conservation department have waged a tug of war over the opening season since 1936. Before that time, there was no closed season. Last year the department recommended an April 20 opening for this year, but the conservation commission overruled the experts and settled on April 15.

Spawners Destroyed
Today the department offered the testimony of its biologist, based upon investigations on the scene last spring, to show that the April 15 season coincided with the spawning season, and that countless numbers of spawning fish had been destroyed by anglers before they had completed their propagation functions.

Of the sample fish examined on the opening day, said the report, only 13 per cent had completed spawning, and 87 per cent were unspawned. The proportion of unspawned fish diminished until the 20th, but even on that date the eggs were flowing freely from some of the female fish seen in anglers' creels, according to Schenberger.

Although there was considerable comment during the season that the famous Wolf river pike run was late last spring, Schenberger produced records to show that the beginning of the run is fairly regular, varying from April 9 to 19th. "It is therefore concluded," said Schenberger, "that the fishing season on the Wolf River and contiguous waters should open no earlier than April 20 in any year."

Schenberger scouted the idea put forward recently that the conservation commission make a special spring survey of Wolf river conditions, and then order a special season after spawning has been completed. Such a scheme, he said, is not only unnecessary—because experience shows when the season can be opened—but legally impracticable.

The biologist's report dealt with wall-eyed pike, but he noted that the northern pike in the Wolf had also not completed spawning when the season opened last spring on April 15, and that numbers of the hard fish had also been caught by the early fishermen.

Three tied for the prize in the weekly Ladies' day at Springvale Golf course Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. H. B. Christy, Mrs. Rudd Smith and Miss Ruth Pribnow, with the latter winning the draw. Mrs. E. W. Wendlandt received the bridge award. Mrs. D. N. Vanderveer was chairman for the day, assisted by Mrs. Walter Spiering, Mrs. Ralph Mortensen, Mrs. Frank A. Myers and Mrs. Carl Sturm.

Mrs. Glen Hall took over as the new president of Plywood Local auxiliary No. 353 as the group installed officers Wednesday evening at Labor hall, succeeding Mrs. Ervin Mannechen. Others who took office were Mrs. Joy Roe, vice president; Mrs. Richard Brown, secretary; Mrs. Earl Linberg, treasurer; Mrs. James Edminister, conductress, and Mrs. Lawrence Herres, warden. New trustees are Mrs. Louis Meschnick, Mrs. Archie Burton and Mrs. Otto Arndt.

Mrs. Gust Paul entertained her card club at her home Tuesday evening, with prizes going to Mrs. John McHugh, Mrs. William McNichols and Mrs. Winifred Davy. Mrs. John Paul will be hostess to the club on July 16.

Knights of Columbus transacted routine business at a regular session Wednesday evening at their hall. Installation of officers elected June 5 will be held after the district deputy has been named.

Mrs. Frank Pasch was hostess to two tables of bridge Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. Paul Roloff and Mrs. Elsa Miller winning prizes. Mrs. Arthur Ridam of Port Washington was a guest.

Catholic Order of Women Foresters will meet Tuesday at the parish hall. Hostesses will be Mrs. P. J. Laux and Mrs. David Nader.

Community Hospital Auxiliary will meet Monday evening at the hospital, with hostesses Mrs. E. A. Meiklejohn, chairman, Mrs. Ben Bolinske and Mrs. R. D. Wilkinson.

Ladies Aid society of Congregational church will hold its annual picnic Friday afternoon, July 12, at Monsted's Point. Mrs. A. L. Severance, president, is in charge of arrangements.

British Navy Hunts Rest of French Fleet and that was badly damaged and presumed to have been put out of action for months.

The action off Oran also resulted in the sinking of one battleship of the 22,189-ton Bretagne class and the heavy damaging of another, the damaging and beaching of the second battle cruiser of the 26,100-ton Strasbourg class, the sinking or burning of two destroyers.

(German accounts, agreeing in the main with this, added that five destroyers, some submarines and some smaller vessels escaped along with the battle cruiser of the Strasbourg class.)

Ultimatum Ignored
The British fleet opened fire on the French vessels after Admiral Gensoul failed to accept the British ultimatum, which called for agreement upon one of the following alternatives:

1. Sail with the British and fight against Germany and Italy.
2. Sail under British control to a British port.
3. Sail to western hemisphere for internment.

Threatening to use "whatever force may be necessary" to prevent the French ships from falling into German or Italian hands, the British placed a six-hour time limit upon the ultimatum. It was delivered Wednesday morning, and the attack started at 5:58 p. m.

In English ports, two battleships, two light cruisers, "some" submarines, eight destroyers and 200 smaller ships were seized.

The situation of the British and French warships at Alexandria was strange. Strong forces of both fleets were rushed there up a joint protection of allied interests in this vital corner of the world near the entrance to the Suez canal.

Attack by Italians
Then came the Petain armistice, providing that all French warships return home. Next, after days of uncertainty, came the British ultimatum.

Thursday morning, while the French admiral was debating what to do about the British order, both the British and French ships were attacked by Italian warplanes, and they fired together at the attackers.

Britain welcomed the seizure of the French ships. The News Chronicle's naval expert, Hector Bywater, said that "our own fleet has been heavily reinforced in every type of ship."

"I speak from personal knowledge," he continued, "when I say that the modern French navy is, as regards material, second to none in the world."

Stars Seek Revenge Against Clintonville

New London — Borden All-Stars softballers will be out to gain revenge for a 2 to 0 defeat Tuesday as they face a collection of Clintonville standouts at 8:15 tonight at the ball park.

Bordens outfit the Truckers last time, Hoffman giving the Clintonville outfit only one safety, but lost on a combination of weak sticking and the one enemy single. Hoffman is expected to take the mound again tonight.

excellence of design and workmanship. "The French navy personnel, too, consisting of Bretons, is incomparably superior to the Italian, and it is therefore much to be hoped that a large proportion of these officers and men have remained loyal to their service."

Alexandria — (P) — British sources here today described the situation of the French fleet at Alexandria as "in abeyance" and said:

"We do not know what will happen or when the French will make a decision. We only know that no French ship shall ever leave Alexandria to surrender to the enemy."

The British and French warships lying in the harbor had a community of interest in that they both were objects of attacks by Italian planes yesterday in which 15 persons were killed and 7 wounded.

Geneva — (P) — A French admiral's communiqué published in the press of territory not occupied by the Germans stated today that the French battleship Bretagne was blown up, and the battleships Dunkerque and Provence and the flotilla leader Mogador set on fire during the battle with the English fleet yesterday at Mers El-Kebir.

The communiqué, which agreed generally with the facts given by the British house of commons yesterday by Prime Minister Churchill, added that the six-hour ultimatum did not give the French fleet time to weigh anchor before the British opened fire.

"Vice Admiral Gensoul replied (to the British ultimatum) there could not be a question of the French fleet joining the British fleet or being scuttled and that he would meet force with force," the communiqué said.

bomb squad pruned cautiously into the bag.

The blast was so terrific that hats, strips of clothing and fragments of bodies were hurled through the air over a 50-foot radius. It dug a hole five feet wide and four feet deep, broke windows in the Polish pavilion, stripped a maple tree of its leaves and tore up a section of heavy wire fence.

Josephine Chemel, salesgirl in the Polish building, said, "It was a terrible explosion. I saw three men lying on the ground, and two more were trying to crawl away. They were holding their faces. One tried to get up. I had to look away."

The explosion occurred just two weeks after bombs went off in a German commercial service office only a floor below the German consul-General's office and outside the building that houses the Daily Workers' communist newspaper. The first blast shattered doors and windows and injured nine people slightly. The second shattered a window and cut a woman standing in a doorway.

Those killed yesterday were Detective Joseph J. Lynch, 33, and Ferdinand A. Socha, 33, close friends. Socha was supposed to be off duty yesterday, but Lynch telephoned and asked for his aid "on a job at the fairgrounds." Less than an hour later, both were dead.

Fall from Milk Stool Is Fatal

William Cooper, 69, Charlestown, Dies; Had Skull Fracture

Having suffered a skull fracture in a fall from a milk stool about two weeks ago, William Cooper, 69, town of Charlestown, died at his home at 6:30 Thursday morning. Mr. Cooper was in a coma for about four days following the accident and his condition was critical the last week.

Mrs. Cooper said her husband had a dizzy spell June 23 while milking in his barn and fell from the stool, hitting his head on a stone wall and the cement floor.

He was born in Dane county July 23, 1870, and lived in Charlestown many years. He was a member of the Charlestown school board.

Besides the widow, survivors are a son, Gilbert, Chilton; a daughter, Mrs. Pearl Forrestal, Bakersville, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Anna Meyer, Madison; a brother, August, New Butler, Wis., and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at Pfeffer Funeral home, Chilton, by the Rev. J. M. Ayres. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery, Chilton.

not working on another message to congress at this time.

He said he had not yet received final figures, which are expected to call for approximately $5,000,000,000 more in outright appropriations and authorizations for appropriations to strengthen the navy and give the army greater mechanized power.

The latest defense recommendations, which are designed also to boost the nation's air forces well along the way to the goal of 50,000 aircraft, may go to congress Monday, the president said.

Asked whether he thought the recommendations would result in completion of the defense program, so far as can be seen at the moment, the chief executive said he thought so, but it should be borne in mind that the whole picture changes all the time because of world events.

Mr. Roosevelt chatted with reporters in the room reserved for him in the Franklin D. Roosevelt library, which was given to the nation at a brief ceremony yesterday. It will be dedicated to the use of the American people and so will contribute toward maintenance of the freedom of information about which Mr. Roosevelt talked.

Public Approves Stimson and Knox in Roosevelt Cabinet

BY DR. GEORGE GALLUP, Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

Princeton, N. J. — President Roosevelt's nomination to his cabinet of two prominent Republicans, Colonel Frank Knox and Henry L. Stimson, meets with the overwhelming approval of voters throughout the country by the American Institute of Public Opinion.

Knox and Stimson, named as Secretary of the Navy and Secretary of War, respectively, were quizzed early this week before Senate Committees. If confirmation of their appointment had been left to the people, the poll indicates that it would have been approved by a vote of more than 7 to 3. Of course, the survey does not measure the public reaction, if any, to statements made by Knox and Stimson before the Senate Committees.

While many of the President's Republican opponents have criticized the appointments on the ground that they were merely a political gesture, the survey shows that this is not the view taken by the general public. The President's action is approved not merely by the rank and file of Democrats in the poll, but, likewise, by a majority of Republican voters with opinions on the issue.

Interviewers at work in the forty-eight states asked a cross-section of voters this question: "President Roosevelt has named two Republicans, Frank Knox and Henry Stimson, to be Secretaries of Navy and War in his cabinet. Do you approve or disapprove of his action?"

Those expressing an opinion voted:

Approve	71%
Disapprove	29%

Approximately one voter in four (25 per cent) expressed no opinion on the President's action.

Despite a recent statement by John Hamilton virtually reading Stimson and Knox out of the Republican party because of their appointment to the New Deal cabinet, the rank and file of G. O. P. voters with definite opinions on the subject approve the two appointments by a comfortable majority.

	Approve	Disapprove
Republicans	57%	43%
Democrats	85	15

Opinion on the new cabinet appointments falls into two distinct categories. The larger group of voters attributes high motives to the President's action, praising it as a move toward unity in a national crisis and praising the appointees as capable men of high caliber. Typical of this point of view are the sentiments expressed by a young man 33 years old, a surveyor in St. Louis, who says: "It is a broad-minded gesture to take men of the opposing party into the cabinet" and by a public stenographer in Chicago, who holds that "It is good for public confidence to have both parties represented in the cabinet."

The minority group who express disapproval of the appointments bring forward two arguments—that Knox and Stimson are "interventionists" and that their appointment is purely a political move on the part of the President. In this group are many who fear that with Knox and Stimson in the cabinet, the nation is more likely to get into war.

The following comments are typical of many hundreds expressed by the opposition group:

"Roosevelt selected them to further his own war policy."

"Stimson would have us in war in twenty-four hours if he had his way."

"It looks as if Roosevelt is trying to make a war party."

"Knox and Stimson are interventionists."

Thousands Jam Pierce Park at Jaces Annual July 4th Celebration

Hear Talk By FBI Agent, Enjoy Rides, Concessions; See Fireworks Display

Milling crowds numbering in the thousands, the blare of dance music from the pavilion, the excited, laughing squeals of delight of members of the younger generation on the daring ferris wheel or whirling rides, the thump-thump of the music from the merry-go-round, the pleading cry of an overfed 2-year-old for another ice cream cone or a bright colored balloon, the gaudy splashes of color that marked both the concession stands and summer dresses and slacks worn by the women.

The time was anytime Tuesday night, Wednesday afternoon or evening. The place was Pierce park. The occasion was the annual Fourth of July celebration of the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Hundreds of Appletonians took advantage of a perfect Independence day weather to enjoy a motor trip, but thousands remained in the city to visit Pierce park and enjoy the entertainment, including a large fireworks display, provided by the Jaces.

Many went to the park to "satisfy the children," but stayed on and on, held by the entertainment acts, the lure of the concession stand barker who were just too, too willing to let them pitch three balls for a dime in an attempt to dump the "Darkie" into a barrel of water, or to win a cane, doll or other brightly tinted merchandise.

Dance At Pavilion
The park pavilion was the mecca of teen age youths who stepped the latest steps to the latest dance tunes.

Proud daddies, in their shirt sleeves, gulped cold beer, and munched at Gus' bratwurst sandwiches while anxious-faced mothers kept a wary eye on junior to see that he didn't get lost in the slow moving mass of humanity that kept shifting about the midway. Some weren't successful, and the announcements over the loud speaker system were punctuated with frequent statements that "little Johnnie So-and-so is at the band stand crying for mother."

It was more than just Fourth of July to many youngsters, it was "G-Man's Day." L. V. Boardman, special

The FBI also has begun conducting schools for policemen, one of which has been held in Appleton.

Eighty-five per cent of the FBI men are termed experts in the use of firearms while the remaining fifteen per cent are termed marksmen or sharpshooters. Their reputation with the gun is so well known among the criminal world that the necessity to use firearms is lessened greatly, Boardman said. He discussed cases handled by the FBI and said that the department has jurisdiction over cases of kidnapping, bank robbery, white slavery, motor vehicle thefts under the national act and 100 other types of crime.

The department has been given instructions to investigate any espionage, sabotage and other matters affecting national defense, and it is cooperating with the army and navy in these matters, Boardman said.

During the day and evening vaudeville acts were given, including a comedy trio, yodeling clown, a balancing act, a dance team, an acrobatic dancer and Jack Hill, comedian and master of ceremonies.

The celebration ended last night with a brilliant display of fireworks.

Take Bids for Coal For County Courthouse

Bids on approximately 130 tons of stoker coal for the courthouse will be received by the county purchasing committee until July 16, according to John E. Hantschel, county clerk. The supply for this coming winter will be smaller because the county jail will be razed by fall to make way for a new courthouse building.

Council Gives 3 Tavern Men City Licenses

Brings Number to
57 in Appleton; Nine
Junk Permits Granted

The city council Wednesday night granted a list of city licenses including three additional tavern permits and nine junk dealer permits.

The three tavern permits bring the number of taverns in Appleton to 57, one under the city's quota under the state law. Granted licenses were Edward G. Gies, 906 S. Oneida street; Earl McGowan, 525 S. College avenue; and Marilyn V. Zuehlke, 343 W. College avenue.

Nine junk dealers were given licenses and the council withheld action on a tenth application, that of Louis Greenstein, until he guarantees the council that he has a place to store junk away from his residence. The application of Louis Greenstein was denied until Simon erects a building in which to store junk. Licenses were granted to Isadore Baron, Appleton Junction; Louis Blacher, Wisconsin avenue; Abe Brudnick, 600 S. Boardman street; Louis Fink, Wisconsin avenue; Jacob Goiper, Nichols farm; Nathan Jacobson, Nichols farm; Sam Schlar, Reeve street; S. Smolofski, 506 N. Superior street; and Irving Weiner.

The Gettelman Brewing company, 300 E. Railroad avenue, was given wholesale and Class A beer permits. Denmark Brewing company, 516 N. Oneida street, received a wholesale beer license; and Joseph Bollin, 202 E. Wisconsin street, was given a Class A beer license.

Taxi License
A taxi license was given to the Appleton Town Taxi-Chester Cab company and Ervin Tomas received a driver's permit.

128 Are Killed In Accidents Over Holiday

Cars driven by Edmund Floor, 613 Calumet street, Neenah, and John P. Wade, 27, 118 E. Kimball street, Oshkosh, and the Ploor car and a car driven by Walter K. McCanna, 23, 226 Center street, Neenah, then collided. Floor was driving north and the other two machines south when the accident occurred, according to Winnebago county police. Floor was cut about the face and Mrs. Vernon Wickstrom, 2241 Fifth street, Neenah, an occupant of the McCanna car, suffered a lacerated scalp and body bruises.

Cars driven by George Rozwick, 21, Appleton, and Herman Olm, 75, 600 S. Telushka avenue, were damaged in a collision at 9:45 this morning on Highway 10 three miles west of Appleton. Rozwick was going west on Highway 10 and Olm drove onto the highway from the East farm driveway when the collision occurred, according to Frenz.

Olm was shaken up in the accident. Francis Bogenschutz, 1028 W. Wisconsin avenue, escaped injury about 3 o'clock yesterday morning when his car went off County Trunk K near the east county line, broke several fence posts, careened through a farmyard and plowed into a small barn.

Patricia Schoville, 21, Weyauwega, suffered a skull fracture in a traffic accident near Portage Wednesday night. Schoville, who is employed by the conservation hatchery department, was returning to Weyauwega from Portage where he had delivered minnows for fish planting. He was traveling on Highway 51 when his machine and another, which came onto the highway from a side road, collided.

Schoville is confined to a Portage hospital.

Irving Immonen, 26, Hobart, Ind., suffered shoulder and knee injuries and cuts about the face and head when his motorcycle and a dump truck driven by Willard Rankin, 29, 719 W. Packard street, collided on Highway 45 a mile south of Greenville about 10 o'clock this morning. He was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital. Immonen was going south on Highway 45 and Rankin was crossing the highway on a town road when the accident occurred, according to William Rohan, county traffic policeman.

Killed in Wisconsin were: Miss Bertha Eichstaedt, 57, Newton township, Marquette county. Russell Jacobs, 45, Breitung, Mich.

Walter Jacobs, 15, Breitung, Mich. Robert Mosher, 13, Shawano. Albert Borchardt, 38, town of Lake, Milwaukee county.

Miss Eichstaedt was killed late Wednesday near Montello in an automobile-truck collision.

Jacobs and his son, Walter, were killed early Thursday when their automobile was struck by a Soo line train at a crossing on County Trunk U one mile west of Dunbar, Wis. They were enroute to Antigo, where Mrs. Jacobs and two other children had been called because of the illness of Mrs. Jacobs' mother.

The Mosher boy was killed in Shawano Thursday when struck by a train while riding his bicycle across railroad tracks within the city.

Borchardt met death, Milwaukee county deputy sheriffs said, when his automobile failed to negotiate a curve and hit an electric light pole.

Odd Fellows Have Meeting at Shiocton
Shiocton—The Odd Fellows met at their hall Monday evening. After the business meeting a lunch was served by the following committee: Will Oaks, chairman; Monroe Manley, Desmond Steele, George Speaker and Donald Kitchenmaster.

Introducing Your Mailman

Do you know the mailman on your route? Every day, rain or shine, in summer and in winter, he stops at your home, providing a service that has grown to be essential as electric lights or the telephone. But few of the mailmen's "customers" know his name, or where he lives or what manner of man he is. The Post-Crescent is introducing the carriers to their public so that readers may know the men who serve them so faithfully.

George Grimmer, route 3... Born at Dorchester in Clark county, he has spent more than 29 years in the postal service... Beginning in 1908, he worked more than three years as a substitute at Two Rivers... Moved then to a farm near Appleton... Became a substitute carrier here in 1914 and a regular in 1916... Covered a rural route eight years.

124 Pass Post-Crescent Swim School Tests at Y. M. C. A. Pool

The biggest crowd ever held in the gallery of the swimming pool at the Y. M. C. A. saw 124 pupils of the Appleton Post-Crescent-Y. M. C. A. swimming school pass their final tests Wednesday evening.

The tests climaxed three weeks of swimming instructions for 859 children, 417 boys and 442 girls, a few less than last year. Last year 123 children passed the final test, a 60-foot swim in the Y pool.

Swimming certificates were distributed to some of the successful students last night but Ray Risch, physical director at the Y, still has a number which were not given out.

Risch said 163 girls tried to pass the test and 81 were successful while 68 boys who tried to swim the 60 feet 43 won their certificates.

Following are those who passed the tests: Ralph Acker, Robert Albrecht, Kenneth Ardell, George Bard, Patrick Blohm, Herbert Boggess, Earl Bowers, Gerad Crowe, Glen Daw-

Mercury Climbs To 89 Degrees

Pleasant Weather
Favors Activities
Over Fourth of July

Fourth of July holiday crowds were favored by pleasant weather though rain clouds threatened yesterday forenoon and finally cut loose about 10:15 last night. Picnics, golf, swimming, tennis and fishing were the order of the day in Appleton and vicinity and thousands wound up their activities by watching the fireworks display at Pierce park last night where the rain started just as the program concluded.

Partly cloudy weather is predicted tonight and Saturday with scattered light showers in the northwest portion of the state tomorrow and somewhat warmer temperatures in the northern section tonight.

The sun really got down to business today and early this afternoon boosted the mercury in the thermometer on the roof of the Post-Crescent building to 89 degrees, the highest mark of the season.

Maximum and minimum temperatures during the 24-hour period preceding 9 o'clock this morning were 80 degrees at 4:30 yesterday afternoon and 59 degrees at 4 o'clock this morning, according to records at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company. Precipitation total .04 of an inch.

Highest and lowest temperatures in the nation yesterday were at Phoenix, Ariz., with 115 degrees and Yellowstone park and Alpena, Mich., with 42 degrees, according to the Associated Press.

Swimming Pool
Expert to Meet
With Committee
Chauncey A. Hyatt, Chicago, an expert on swimming pools, came to Appleton this morning and conferred with Mayor Goodland and other city officials on the type of municipal pool to be built at Erb park.

Tonight the mayor's special swimming pool committee will meet Hyatt, set moving pictures on swimming pools and study the hundreds of photographs of pools throughout the world which Hyatt has collected. The meeting will be held at 7:30 in city hall.

Mayor Goodland invited Hyatt to Appleton after the swimming pool committee failed to agree on the type of pool needed in Appleton. Hyatt is expected to give the committee some ideas and to tell members what not to build for a city this size.

Fined for Cutting Fish

Marshall Graff's Chihuahua Wins Championship at Show

Marshall Graff's Mexican chihuahua won five points to complete its championship Thursday at the Northeastern Wisconsin Kennel club's third annual all-breed dog show at Fond du Lac.

The dog's name is Impi de Graffmar and she is the second chihuahua champion developed by Graff. She won the other 10 points to wards her championship at various shows last spring. Another of Graff's dogs, also a chihuahua, won best of class.

Hampton Purdy's cocker spaniel, Count of Stockdale, won first places in the American bred and limit classes. The dog was handled at the show by Dr. L. H. Dillon.

Two dogs from Mrs. Walter Wieckert's farms also won first places. Her international champion, Romanoff Sandra took the best of breed in the borzoi class and her Boris of Wieckert farm won first in its class and best of males.

The two Wieckert children, Marguerite and David, won second and third respectively in the children's handling event.

An English setter owned by Richard Swift took third place in the puppy class. The dog's little brother, owned by an Oshkosh man, won first and second in that class.

Ten dogs owned by Neenah and Menasha fanciers also took ribbons at the show.

John and Paul Becker, Neenah, entered two Siberian huskies and both won blue ribbons, and one of the dogs won best of breed. Frank Fadder Neenah, showed a cocker spaniel which took a second place ribbon in an exceptionally large class.

Norman Nye, Neenah, showed a

Shetland sheepdog which went to best of breed, and Mr. and Mrs. Otis Hayes, Neenah, showed a wire-haired fox terrier that won a blue ribbon and was judged the best local wire.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kennedy showed an English setter which won a second place ribbon, and they also showed a Pekinese which won a blue ribbon. Francis Landig, Neenah, showed a Labrador retriever which won a blue ribbon and went to reserve winner.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hafeman, Menasha, showed two Irish setters which took third and fourth place ribbons.

For the first offense, $2 for the second and $3 for the third in any 12 month period. Violations which would be handled in the traffic bureau would include overtime parking, parking on highways, parking on certain streets, parking at night, stopping in restricted zones, parking too far away from the curb, parking vehicles for sale and not stopping the engine of a parked car.

Alderman McGillan nearly started an argument when he charged in a resolution that the street commissioner raised the pay of one man and lowered the wages of another without authority from the street and bridge committee. He wanted the council to remind the commissioner that the council still is in charge of the street department.

Spikes Argument
However, before the argument got underway, Alderman Franke, chairman of the street and bridge committee, said that both changes in pay were authorized by the committee. The mayor then ruled the resolution out of order.

Alderman approved the board of public works' recommendation to complete work on the Spencer field grandstand, except the roof, this summer. The low bid of the Standard Manufacturing company for millwork on the stadium was accepted and the council hired the Badger Furnace company to do the necessary sheet metal work.

A small carload of paving brick, to be used in constructing catchbasins, was purchased from the Marston Brothers company, Appleton, at $25.50 per thousand and the clerk was ordered to advertise for another carload.

Twenty tons of ferric sulphate was purchased from the Monsanto Chemical company of Chicago, on its low bid of $28.20 per ton. The chemical will be used to treat sewage at the disposal plant.

To test soil for the soil-cement stabilization projects, the council employed the Oshkosh Industrial Laboratory for a flat price of $600, which will include inspection of the job. Present top soil on W. Winnebago street between Mason street and Bader avenue will be removed and the street will be refilled with gravel in preparation for the stabilization improvement.

Argue About Movers
An attempt to rescind a resolution adopted by the council at its last meeting prohibiting house movers from using College avenue was defeated 9 to 8. Alderman Knutli made the motion to rescind and he was supported by Alderman Thompson who said "College avenue is the only street in the city where it is possible to move a house without trouble. On all other streets the mover encounters trees and wires."

Alderman Bogan objected to the moving of all the old houses in the city to the Sixteenth ward while Alderman Knutli claimed he would be glad to have some of them in his ward.

Prices to be charged softball teams which use Spencer field were fixed by the council. Day games will cost the teams 10 per cent of the gate with a guarantee of $5 and night games, when the lights are used, will cost $6 per hour.

An ordinance vacating that part of Cedar street which lies west of the west line of Douglas street was adopted and the proposed vacation of parts of Adams street was referred to the plans commission.

Street lights were ordered installed at 501 E. Circle street, on N. Clark street north of W. Parkway boulevard, and on N. Harrison street north of Parkway boulevard.

PRESIDENTIAL MODEL

Third Term Is Big Subject in Capital City

'Short Term' Idea For Roosevelt Is Under Consideration

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—President Roosevelt may be counted on to do the unexpected when the Democratic National convention offers him the third nomination. Many people have begun to believe since Wendell Willkie's nomination, that the president would decline to run. New Dealers are equally confident that because of Willkie's strength, Mr. Roosevelt is the only Democrat who could win.

Some where between these two ideas is a third. Mr. Roosevelt knows that the chief obstacle to a third term is precedent. To offset this is his belief that the next few months are critical in world history and that he must remain at the helm. How then to be president just a few months and yet keep the New Deal in power?

One solution from the president's point of view would be to announce that he believes the third-term tradition is a good thing, but that it contemplates two terms of four years each. Unfortunately for him, the president might point out, he is the first president who has had his term of office shortened by constitutional amendment. This was done in order to change the day of inauguration. Although inaugurated on March 4 originally, his second term was compelled to begin on Jan. 20. Thus Mr. Roosevelt is to serve seven years and a little over ten months. He has been deprived of about 43 days. And a lot can happen in 43 days as witness the "hot" war that conquered France in about that time.

Refused 3d Terms
Mr. Roosevelt might say he is entitled to eight years of service as were all those of his predecessors who were reelected except those who came to the White House from the vice presidency due to death of a president. Theodore Roosevelt, though serving from September 1901 to March 4, 1909 or about seven years and a half, said that the tradition must hold even in this case and he refused to be a candidate for a consecutive third term. Calvin Coolidge although president five and a half years did not choose to run for a third term.

But the tradition is based on eight years and Mr. Roosevelt would have a plausible argument if he insisted that he had the right by precedent to serve from March 4, 1933 to March 4, 1941. This would mean that he could be a candidate in this year's contest and announce that he would retire in favor of the vice president next March. He would thus remain president about 43 days longer than otherwise, if elected in November, but it would assure from a domestic point of view the continuance of the New Deal which, when all is said and done, is really the important thing. The New Dealers are worried about this. They want to hold onto the jobs and the power that goes with them.

Who then would be chosen as nominee for vice president? Mr. Roosevelt can't very well select Attorney General Jackson because he, too, comes from New York state and a constitutional technicality disqualifies the electors of New York state, for instance, from voting for two candidates from the same state.

The presidential favorite is known to be Justice William O. Douglas of the supreme court of the United States. He is relatively a newcomer in politics and the regular party men do not know him. Still, they have very little to say about him nowadays in the Democratic party. The regulars have fallen all over themselves to hand the party

6,000 Persons See Fireworks Display of 3 Communities

Kimberly — About six thousand persons in cars and on the banks of the Fox river saw the second annual tri-community fireworks display Wednesday evening on the Little Chute canal banks. The event was sponsored by Little Chute, Combined Locks and Kimberly villages.

More than 1,000 cars jammed the highway, east of the village which joins Combined Locks. Motorists had cars parked in their favorite locations as early as 7:15 Wednesday evening. The Little Chute bridge which was closed to traffic, was lined with hundreds of spectators as well as the banks near the scene. The Little Chute, Combined Locks and Kimberly police officers, aided by special deputies from each village, handled the large crowd and traffic.

Harold Brunner was elected to the unexpired term of Albert Schroeder on the church council at the quarterly meeting of the Mt. Calvary Evangelical Lutheran church Tuesday evening. Mr. Brunner will serve as mission secretary. Emil Thomsen was appointed delegate to the Fox River valley conference at Black Creek, July 23. The congregation authorized the building committee to secure the architect for the building program, with plans to erect the church building as well as the parsonage, which will get underway as soon as possible.

Committee appointments were made at a Booster club meeting at the clubhouse Tuesday evening. Plans also were made for the club's picnic at Stockbridge harbor, Sunday, July 14. William Van Daalwyk will arrange for the German mechanism over to the New Dealers so they can hardly complain now if the president dictates the man he wants for vice president.

Senator Byrnes
If Mr. Roosevelt runs, moreover, it would disqualify Postmaster General Farley of New York state who really should be the vice presidential nominee from the standpoint of service in the past to the Democratic party. There is talk of naming Senator James Byrnes of South Carolina. He is an able man and popular in congress, and if the president were to retire, Jimmy Byrnes would make an excellent president.

The war abroad, of course, might prevent Mr. Roosevelt from retiring exactly on March 4, 1941, if he were elected next November, but this would be a detail. Again and again, under New Deal auspices, circumstances have arisen which have made it seem expedient to the New Dealers to ignore a platform pledge or a public pronouncement. Under the New Deal, the philosophy of Machiavelli prevails—that the end justifies the means. This is but another way of saying that the New Dealers conscientiously believe no other groups can rule America and preserve the so-called social gains or losses—the phrase depending on whether, for example, a $45,000,000 debt is a social loss or gain in the modern world.

All Washington is talking about only one subject: will the president accept the nomination that is going to be tendered to him? He may answer it with a short third term—a trick concept, such as he advanced when he asked that the supreme court be enlarged by enough justices to offset the votes of those he didn't like. The same cleverness which prompted the supreme court bill can bring the abbreviated third-term idea for the 1940 presidential election.

Round of Parties Begins For Miss Katharine Pratt

Friends of Miss Katharine Pratt, who will be a July bride, have begun a series of pre-nuptial parties in her honor. Miss Pratt, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. K. Pratt, 122 N. Lawe street, will be married July 20 to James Lison of Milwaukee.

Mrs. Heber H. Pelkey, 12 Brookway place, and Mrs. H. D. Purdy, 6 Brookway place, were co-hostesses at a dinner party Tuesday night at the Pelkey home for the bride-to-be. The latter received a gift.

A handkerchief shower and dessert-bridge was given Wednesday evening by Mrs. Merle Davis, 128 N. Lawe street. Prizes were won by Mrs. David M. Gallaher and Miss Pratt.

Mrs. E. C. Weitemann, Superior, a former Appleton resident, is being entertained during her visit with her sisters, Mrs. Roy Schulze and Mrs. Ronald Faskell. Tuesday evening she was guest of honor at a reunion of a bridge club to which she formerly belonged at the home of Mrs. Arthur Benson, 1920 N. Appleton street. The nine women decided to forego their bridge game in favor of "just visiting."

Mrs. Carl Foreman, 1044 E. Pacific street, entertained at an informal afternoon party Wednesday for Mrs. Weitemann, and this afternoon Mrs. L. H. Dillon and Mrs. E. G. Bialkowski are co-hostesses at a party at the Dillon home on N. Bateman street.

The seventh wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ebbens, 1406 Amelia avenue, Grand Chute, was celebrated at a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Polcen, 1401 Kenilworth avenue, Grand Chute, recently. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Mohr, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Swinkles, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Holmbeck, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sonnenlitter, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Boers, Mrs. Gregory Van Erem, Miss Ione Diesang, Mrs. Harold Gerrits, Miss Caroline Polcen, Appleton, Mr. and Mrs. George Kochler, Neenah, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Paulus, Kimberly.

Prizes at snafskopf went to Mr. Boers, Mrs. Mohr and Mr. Sonnenlitter and at dice to Mrs. Diesang and Mrs. Boers. Special prizes were won by Mr. Koehler and Mr. Sonnenlitter. Fred Paulus, Kimberly, provided music for dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Romanesko, 632 George street, Kaukauna, entertained a group of guests at their home Sunday. Those present were Mrs. Anna Romanesko, Mrs. Barney Huetpas, sons, Gerald and Marvin, and daughter, Mary Frances, Kaukauna; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Baumann, sons, John and Cyril, and daughters, Adelle and Mary Frances, Mackville; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Baumann and daughters, Betty, Sally, Joan and Jane, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Stingle and daughters, Ruth, Janet and Mary Ann, Black Creek; Mr. and Mrs. Nick Fox and son, Marvin, route 2, Kaukauna; Mr. and Mrs. John Smits, daughters, Jane, Carol and Joyce, and sons, Jackie and Ronald, Kimberly; Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Baumann and daughter, Judith Ann, Tigerton; and Miss Evelyn Wittlin, Stephenville.

Nine tables of cards were in play at the open card party given by Christian Mothers society of St. Therese church Wednesday afternoon in the parish hall. Mrs. Peter Williamson and Mrs. M. Kerrigan won prizes at schafskopf. Mrs. George Green and Mrs. C. J. Rockstroh at bridge and Mrs. A. A. Denil the special prize.

Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles entertained guests at a card party Wednesday afternoon at Eagle hall. 11 tables being in play. Prizes at schafskopf were won by Mrs. John Brandt, Mrs. Emma Bethe and Mrs. W. Tierney, at bridge by Mrs. W. Files and Mrs. Frank Gosha and at dice by Mrs. Al Recker and Mrs. A. Court.

Lutheran Church to Adopt New Schedule

The summer schedule will be started at First English Lutheran church Sunday morning when the service is changed to 9 o'clock for the rest of July and August and the first Sunday in September. The Rev. Julius Kolberg, Britt, Iowa, formerly of Appleton, will be guest preacher Sunday morning.

Retreat for Women Will Open July 12

The twentieth annual retreat for women of the Green Bay diocese will take place July 12 to 16 at Monte Alverno retreat house under auspices of the Missionary Association of Catholic Women. Reservations for the retreat may be made with Mrs. O. W. McCarthy, Chilton. The retreat-master will be the Rev. Anscar Parsons, O. M. Cap.

The annual convention of the Green Bay diocesan branch of the organization will be held at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, July 16, at the retreat house. Dinner will be served to the delegates and visitors.

Mrs. Fran Paalman, Kimberly, will entertain Mr. Calvary Ladies Aid society at 2 o'clock next Thursday afternoon at her home. She and Mrs. Malcolm Moss will be hostesses. Plans will be made for the building festival, July 21.

The monthly meeting of St. Matthew Lutheran congregation will take place at 7:30 Monday night at the church. Registration for German communion on July 14 will be taken Friday afternoon and evening, July 12.

The Fox River Valley Holiness association will convene at Wesleyan Methodist church July 12. The session will open at 10:15 in the morning and continue throughout the day, closing at 7:45 with a service.

Special speakers will be the Rev. L. J. Winslow, pastor of the Nazareth church, Oshkosh, and the Rev. P. F. Wilcott, pastor of the Free Methodist church, Oshkosh. A basket lunch will be eaten at the city park at noon.

Races and games entertained about 75 persons who attended the annual Sunday school picnic of Wesleyan Methodist church Thursday at Albia park. Basket lunches were eaten at noon and in the evening. The entertainment committee consisted of Hayden Gase, chairman, the Rev. N. J. Remmenga and Ollie Toms of Kaukauna.

Invitations Are In Verse for First Horse Show Ball

Amusing invitations decorated with drawings of horses were used by the committee to announce the horse show ball tomorrow night at North Shore Golf club. The announcement, written in verse, says:

"On the sixth of July
We're going to step high
At the first Eskdale Horse show ball
Bring your favorite nag or filly.
The feed bags go on about 9 for all.

"North Shore is the stable
Where all who are able
Should gather to share in the fun.
There'll be races with prizes
And other surprises.
On your mark for the crack of the gun!"

The party comes on the eve of the annual horse show which will be sponsored Sunday at the Kimberly Eskdale stables, Neenah, under the auspices of the Neenah-Menasha Emergency society. Horse show visitors, exhibitors and judges, as well as tennis stars here for the Fox River valley tennis tournament will be among the guests.

Appleton Girls in Party Of 60 on 325-Mile Hike to Physical Culture Conclave

A 325-mile hike from Cleveland, Ohio, to Danville, N. Y., is the Misses Doris and Helen Boettcher's idea of a real vacation. The daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boettcher, route 3, Appleton, are somewhere enroute, having left Cleveland Monday with a party of 60 seekers of good health headed by Bernard Macfadden, millionaire publisher and physical culturist. Their ultimate destination is Macfadden's health camp at Danville where a physical culture convention will be held. The trip will take about two weeks.

Miss Margaret Nowak, 1416 W. Summer street, and Miss Genevieve McGahn, 900 N. Richmond street, left Wednesday evening for Milwaukee to visit with relatives and friends. They will return home Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Duval, 414 E. Summer street, had as their guests for the Fourth of July Dr. and Mrs. Carl Windesheim and their son, Peter.

Pi Phi Unit At Lawrence Gets Charter

Pi Phi Gamma, local sorority founded at Lawrence college in June, 1939, was granted a charter Thursday by Pi Beta Phi, national sorority. The group will be installed the middle of next September as Wisconsin Gamma chapter. National officers will come to Appleton for the ceremonies.

Granting of the charter took place at the national convention of Pi Beta Phi, in session from June 30 to July 6 at Huntington hotel, Pasadena, Calif. Miss Mary Jane Hull, Columbia, Mo., sent to Lawrence last year by the grand council of Pi Beta Phi to help organize the local group, represented the Lawrence chapter at the convention.

About 1,200 women are attending the meeting. There are delegates from all of the 82 active chapters as well as from most of the 190 alumnae chapters.

Present officers of the Lawrence college chapter are Miss Dorothy Ahrensfield, Oak Park, Ill., president; Miss Barbara Jane Groff, Rockford, Ill., vice president; Miss Carmen Campbell, Clintonville, secretary; and Miss Virginia Dahlstrom, Wilmette, Ill., treasurer. They and the other members of Pi Phi Gamma will become charter members of Wisconsin Gamma chapter of Pi Beta Phi when it is installed in September.

Fox River valley alumnae of Pi Beta Phi formed an alumnae club last fall. Its officers are Mrs. Leslie Ross, Oshkosh, president; Mrs. Gilbert Rankin, Manitowish, vice president; Mrs. Herman Koch, Berlin, recording secretary; and Mrs. Victor Zeuthen, Neenah, corresponding secretary.

Priest Talks To 500 at Park

The Declaration of Independence from George III was at the same time a declaration of dependence upon Almighty God, the Rev. Anscar Parsons, O. M. Cap., said in a talk on "Foundations for Peace" Wednesday night at Pierce park. A crowd of about 500 persons attended.

The founding fathers believed that all men were brothers under God, the speaker continued, and denial of this universal equality and brotherhood breeds race, class and international hatreds. The road to peace, he added, is found in recognizing this fundamental fraternity as it has been recognized up to this time in the United States of America.

Father Anscar said, "Thomas Jefferson wrote in 1776 that government exists to secure the human rights of its citizens. Plus XII declares in 1940 that to consider the state as something 'ultimate' to which everything else should be subordinated and directed cannot fail to harm the true and lasting prosperity of nations."

Peace, the priest pointed out, means more than the mere absence of war.

"Who will say that fallen France is at peace even though the 75's no longer bark defiance and the Maginot line is silent?" he asked. "Indeed, was there peace at all during the 20 years cessation of hostilities? Someone has said that to ask who won the last war is like asking, 'Who won the San Francisco earthquake, or who won the Ohio Valley flood? War is chaos and catastrophe. The present war is no different from its predecessors.'"

Voicing the hope that from the present conflict and chaos real peace may emerge, "not merely the command, 'Cease firing,' not proud and ruthless victory but peace, the fruit of justice," Father Anscar said "The men who gathered in Philadelphia in 1776 were men who were fighting for peace in the best and noblest sense of the word. . . . In the Declaration of Independence they laid down the foundations for lasting peace and order. That great document is a challenge today to America and to the world."

Dr. George T. Hegger, Green Bay diocesan president of the Holy Name society, introduced Father Anscar before his talk Wednesday night which is one of a series being sponsored by Father Fitzmaurice council, Knights of Columbus.

Weyauwega Women Give Rustic Party On Onaway Island

Weyauwega — Mesdames H. W. Crane, Fred Hertz, Albert Anklem, Brown Morey and Antone Bratz entertained 62 guests Tuesday at a rustic luncheon on Onaway Island, Chain O'Lakes. Waupaca guests were from Weyauwega, Fremont, Waupaca and Neenah. Mrs. Frank Rich, who is visiting Mrs. Myrtle Olson, also attended.

Fifteen tables of contract were in play and prizes were awarded to Mrs. A. M. Sader, Fremont; Mrs. Roy Hutchinson; Mrs. William Nienhaus, Mrs. Ervin Mader and Mrs. Ervin Mader and Mrs. F. W. Bauer.

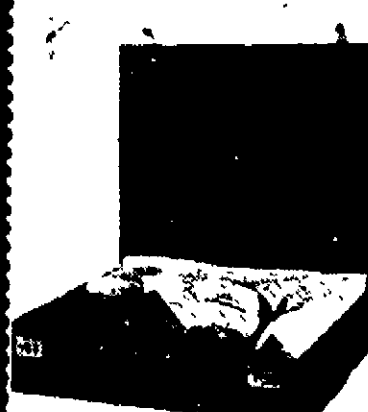

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Richter are Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Richter and children, Richard and Corinne and Otto A. Richter, all of New Rockford, N. D. The Rev. Lowell Reykdal is spending this week and next at Camp Byron. He will preach Sunday at Trinity Methodist church, Milwaukee, exchanging pulpits with his father, the Rev. T. J. Reykdal.

Tribute to Booth is Paid in Radio Talk

Special tribute to William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, in commemoration of the one hundred and eleventh anniversary of his birth was paid by Adjutant T. A. Raber in his "Church of the Air" radio program over the Appleton station this morning. Last Sunday morning there was a special anniversary service at the temple.

Adjutant Raber told of the beginning of a little mission on London's Mile End road in 1865 by William Booth and his wife, a mission which grew into an international organization of over 3,000,000 members. The Army came to the United States in 1880, this year marking the Sixtieth anniversary of the organization in this country. There are 25 corps in Wisconsin and the upper peninsula.

Action of Newly Married Teacher Displeases Board

Neenah—Mrs. G. W. Gaulke, the former Miss Helen Greenwood of Oshkosh, a first grade teacher in Washington school, was told in emphatic language by the board of education that it is highly displeased with her because she intends to continue teaching despite her marriage on July 8.

Mrs. Gaulke wrote the board: "This is just to let you know that I was married on July 8. I am not returning my contract as I intend to continue teaching."

The board, at a meeting this week, issued a formal statement in which it had this to say:

Industrial League In 2 Tilts Tonight

Industrial League	W.	L.
Marathon Paper	3	0
Strange Paper	2	1

Menasha — Two games will be played in the Menasha Industrial Softball league at 6 o'clock tonight, at the Menasha baseball park. Strange Paper, which holds a tie for second place in the league standings, will meet the Electrotype team which has been defeated in its only start on the southeast diamond.

Gilberts will oppose the Wooden Ware team on the northwest diamond. The Gilbert team has been defeated twice while the Wooden Ware won a game after dropping its first two starts.

Lenz Post to Resume Meetings in September

Menasha — No meetings of Henry J. Lenz post No. 152, American Legion, will be held during the summer, according to Hugh Geibel, post commander. Meetings will be resumed the first Thursday in September. New officers of the post will be installed at that time.

Gun Club Will Elect New Officers Tuesday

Neenah—Officers of the Twin City Rod and Gun club will be elected at 7:30 Tuesday evening at the Neenah city hall auditorium.

The club's annual picnic will be held at Stroebe's island at 9 o'clock Sunday morning, July 28. The speaker will be Alvin E. O'Konsky, Madison.

New Executive Committee Is Named for Relief Corps

Neenah — Appointment of a new executive committee and aids for 6-month terms featured the business session of the H. J. Lewis Woman's Relief corps meeting Wednesday afternoon in S. A. Cook armory. Mrs. Freda Herrick, Mrs. Ralph Suess, Mrs. Frank Kellogg, Mrs. H. Faas, Mrs. Harry Kampe, Mrs. George Johnson, Mrs. M. Lis-kau, Mrs. Hannah Peterson, Mrs. Nora Nutter, Mrs. Frederick Herrick, were named as members of the executive committee. The aids include Mrs. Freda Herrick, Mrs. Max Radtke, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Lis-kau and Mrs. Faas. Plans were made also for a food sale.

Ladies society of Emmanuel Evangelical Lutheran church, meeting at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon in the church, made plans for a food sale at the Klinkle grocery at 11 o'clock Saturday, July 20, with Mrs. Eva Huebner as chairman. The Ladies society will serve coffee at the Sunday school picnic July 28. All members of the society will donate to the food sale. Thankoffering boxes will be brought to the Aug. 7 meeting. The meeting was opened with a call to worship service conducted by Mrs. H. Blohm, president. A hymn, "Master No Offering Costly and Sweet" and "A Promise of Peace" was given in union. Mrs. William Luedtke led the prayer. Mrs. Fred Kehl read the topic "Jesus Shall Reign" after which the Rev. E. C. Kollath gave a talk on "Peace Demands Righteousness, Justice, Mercy and International Cooperation." Hostesses at Wednesday's social hour were Mrs. Otto Schmidt, Mrs. Theodore Blank, Mrs. Walter Hauke, Mrs. Fred Popp, Mrs. Fred Kuehl and Mrs. William Wismer.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Barnes, Des Moines, Ia., were guests Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mielke, 418 Fifth street.

Mr. and Mrs. John Handeyside and daughter, Mary Kate, visited in Menominee, Mich., over the Fourth of July.

Raymond Johnson, student pastor, conducted devotions at the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Ladies society in St. Paul's English Lutheran church parish house. Thirty-five members attended the meeting. Mrs. Carroll Rogers, Mrs. Herman Schumann, Mrs. Harold Nooyen, Mrs. Frank Riesenweber and Mrs. C. F. Overly were hostesses.

The council, upon recommendation from the finance committee, voted to disallow seven claims for minor damages. Alderman Edward Schultz, chairman of the committee, reported that last month the city incurred 164 bills totaling $21,813.52. The larger bills consisted of interest on high school bonds $3,217.50, street lighting $1,201.06, hydrant rental and water $5,164.13, poor $1,389.55, and construction or retaining wall on Race street $2,220.49.

Careless Handling Of 'Crackers' Leads To 2 Menasha Fires

Menasha — Careless handling of firecrackers resulted in two calls to the Menasha fire department over the Fourth, according to Fire Chief Paul Theimer. A firecracker tossed into the awning at the Cashway store, 228 Main street, ignited the awning and the department was called at 12:40 Thursday morning. Flames spread to the awning of Grade's Pantorium, 226 Main street. Both awnings were burned beyond repair.

Fire started in the front partition wall of the Reuben Carpenter residence, 104 Garfield avenue at 1:40 this morning from a firecracker which had exploded under the porch. There was a small amount of damage before the department got the fire under control.

The department also was called at 10:30 Wednesday night when an automobile driven by Gordon Parker, 7373 Second street, Menasha, started to burn at the intersection of Tayco and Broad streets. There was little damage from the fire which occurred when Parker drove with his emergency brake locked.

Menasha Beats Oshkosh Legion

All-Stars Take Lead In Elimination Series With 6 to 2 Victory

Menasha — All-Stars of the Menasha Junior Baseball league defeated the Oshkosh American Legion team 6 to 2 Thursday in the first of the series of games to determine which team will enter regional competition in the American Legion Junior league.

The Menasha team managed only three hits off two Oshkosh pitchers but took advantage of 15 walks to score the victory. Ambrose Naleway allowed Oshkosh eight hits of which five were the infield scratch variety.

Schneider started on the mound for Oshkosh and, although he did not allow a hit, was touched for five runs because of nine walks and a balk. Menasha counted a run in the first when Swamp walked, took second on a passed ball, went to third when Kosloski was thrown out, and scored on another passed ball.

In the fourth Baldauf, Baenke, and A. Naleway walked to fill the bases. One run scored when Schneider committed a balk and Swamp walked to fill the bases again. Another run was forced in when Marx walked. Kossup took the mound for Oshkosh and John Skalmoski connected for the first Menasha hit, a single to center scoring two runs.

Doubles in Fifth

Kosloski doubled to open the fifth for the second hit off Kossup but got no farther than third. Oshkosh scored its first run when Quant scratched an infield hit to the pitcher and advanced on another infield hit by Rajsky. He took third on a wild pitch and scored after Skalmoski caught Kossup's long fly. In the seventh Rajsky doubled and scored when Kossup's single to center got past Kosloski.

Baldauf singled in the Menasha seventh for the third hit but got no farther than second. The last run came in the eighth when Swamp walked but was forced at second by Marx. Skalmoski and Kosloski also walked to fill the bases and Baldauf was hit by a pitched ball, forcing Marx home.

B. B. B. Sorority Honors Founder During Outing

Menasha—When the 36 members of the B. B. B. sorority of First Congregational church returned last Sunday from Alpine resort, Egg Harbor, where they spent the week, it climaxed a quarter of a century of annual outings for the members. Highlighting the week's camp this year was a silver anniversary homecoming banquet last Friday evening in honor of Mrs. W. H. Miner, founder and leader of the B. B. B. sorority.

Since 1916, members of this church group have been meeting together for a week's outing in scenic places of the state.

The delegation this year was the largest in the history of the organization. Activities of the week include riding, golf, tennis, songfest, ping-pong, boating, dancing, swimming, hiking, bridge tournaments and cottage parties.

Mrs. Miner Honored

At the silver anniversary banquet, at which Mrs. Miner was guest of honor, Mrs. Nora Fahrenkrug, president, acted as toastmistress. Mildred Terrio opened the program with a prayer after which Miss Margaret Stewart, accompanied by Mrs. Miner, sang "How do You do" and "Because You're You." Miss Charline Bloomstrom played "I'm Falling in Love with Someone" on her Chinese 1-string violin.

Harriette DeWolf, Pearl and Bernice Breaker, Charline Bloomstrom, Loretta Tuchscherer and Lizzie Stewart entertained the group with reminiscences of early outings. Mary Black gave a short address and telegrams and letters from absent members were read by Mrs. Miner. Miss Stewart sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "I'll be Loving You Always." A poem dedicated to Mrs. Miner was read in unison after which the guest of honor was presented with a gift.

Those who attended the anniversary dinner but were not at the outing the full week included Leila Weber, Mrs. Ralph Moon, Sue Floyd, Harriette DeWolf, Hazel Smith, Mrs. H. Matteson, Mrs. C. Kloepfel, Loretta Tuchscherer and Mrs. G. Stielow.

List Campers

Members who were at the camp throughout the week were Mrs. C. Anderson; Mrs. A. August, Miss Charline Bloomstrom, Miss Blanche Calder, Miss Margaret Fahrenkrug, Mrs. P. Fahrenkrug, Miss Zella Frederick, Miss Marcella Johnson, Mrs. C. Kloepfel, Mrs. Miner, Mrs. D. Prosser, Mrs. Charles Royster, Mrs. H. Stilp Outlines Traffic Plan to Neenah Council

Seek Land Options For Extension of Laudan Boulevard

Neenah—Police Chief Irving Stilp outlined a proposed plan for eliminating traffic congestion at Wisconsin avenue and Commercial street intersection as the council at a meeting Wednesday night at the city hall, authorized City Attorney John W. O'Leary to obtain options on land for the extension of Laudan boulevard from Reed street to S. Park avenue.

The proposed traffic plan provides for creating three lanes of traffic on N. Commercial street from North Water street to Wisconsin avenue and four lanes from Nicolet boulevard to North Water street as well as routing all Kimberly-Clark corporation traffic over its new bridge at Church street and adopting no left turns on N. Commercial street at E. and W. Canal streets.

The council's committee on traffic safety, headed by Alderman Harvey Nash, Kimberly-Clark corporation officials and Chief Stilp have been working out the plan.

The chief explained that from North Water street to Wisconsin avenue, there will be two lanes of southbound traffic on N. Commercial street but only one lane of northbound traffic, while north of North Water street there will be two lanes of traffic going both directions.

All traffic out of the Kimberly-Clark property will be routed north over the bridge and N. Church street to W. Wisconsin avenue, even those employees living on the island, requiring them to make the circuit to N. Commercial street via W. Wisconsin avenue.

Reduce Left Turns
Eliminating left turns on N. Commercial street at E. and W. Canal street will help to avoid with traffic congestion on that thoroughfare. It further is proposed to adopt no left turns on Commercial street at Wisconsin avenue during the heavy traffic periods only.

Mayor Edwin A. Kalfahs stated that this plan is revolutionary and would require considerable study by the individual aldermen, so the council decided that an informal meeting will be held within a week at which the aldermen will give further consideration to the plan. In the meantime, copies of a map which has been drawn and which will outline the plan, will be printed for the councilmen.

Faced with the problem of spending about $9,000 for property in extending Laudan boulevard in a straight line from Reed street to S. Park avenue or creating a slight jog at Congress street and saving several thousand dollars, the council chose the latter in authorizing the city attorney to secure options on the land.

Explains Costs
The city attorney told the council that he had secured prices from property owners on the straight line plan, and for about seven pieces of land, it would cost the city about $9,000, while if the council wanted to make a slight curve, the land would be purchased much cheaper. It was said at the meeting that it could be had for less than $2,000.

The council voted to hire three men to appraise two lots on River street owned by Mrs. Jessie Buck and the Oehlke property to determine a purchase price which the city could offer. Mrs. Buck has offered to sell her land for $1,100, while the other lot has been offered for $750. The Buck property is filled with water and causes an offensive odor, it is said. It is planned to buy the land, fill in the hole and provide a Third ward playground, but aldermen stated that the prices are too high.

Supervisor Charles Korotey and Alderman John T. Heigl were named to the board of review. The Four Injured In 2 Accidents

Youths in Serious Condition After Car, Motorcycle Crashes

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh—Four persons were injured, two seriously, in two Winnebago county accidents over the weekend.

John Quayle, 21, 303 Hewitt street, Neenah, is in a critical condition at Theda Clark hospital with internal injuries and Steve Ferdon, 19, Richters Bay, is in serious condition with a brain concussion, possible skull fracture and a broken right ankle.

Quayle was hurt when a car driven by Kenneth Abraham, 402 Sixth street, Neenah, left County Trunk A at Paynes Point about 4:30 this morning. Abraham backed out of the ditch and across the road and rolled over in the ditch on the opposite side of the road, according to county police. Gerald Anderson, 416 Sixth street, Neenah, another passenger, suffered lacerations of the face and head.

Ferdon was injured when his motorcycle failed to negotiate a curve on County Trunk P about 1 o'clock this morning. His motorcycle hit a ditch, jumped the 16-foot road and overturned in a field. Helmi Madic, 19, Paynes Point, riding with Ferdon, suffered a sprained back.

One Minor Accident Reported at Menasha

Menasha—Only one minor traffic accident was reported in Menasha on the fourth, according to Police Chief Alex Slomski. Cars driven by Christy Walters, 397 Cleveland street, Menasha, and Kenneth Wisnace, route 1, Almond, Wis., collided on Cleveland street at 7:40 last night.

Walters was driving north on Cleveland street and attempted to turn into his driveway. Wisnace also was driving north on Cleveland street when the accident occurred. The right rear fender, bumper, tail light, and trunk of the Walters car and the left front fender of the Wisnace car were damaged.

Vagrant Sentenced

Neenah—Herbert Anderson, Ludington, Mich., was sentenced to five days in the Winnebago county jail when he pleaded guilty of vagrancy when arraigned this morning before Justice of the Peace Gaylord C. Leehning. Neenah police made the arrest last night.

board will open its sessions at 11 o'clock Monday morning at the city hall.

The council voted to take out a liability insurance policy on the city hall and appropriated $25 to send L. M. Rausch, fire chief, to the annual state fire chief's convention July 15, as well as appropriated $180 for construction of sewers at Kimberly school. The council accepted the low bid of H. J. Nehls of $108 for painting the police station and authorized advertising for bids for repairing the electrical system in the station. The committee on streets, sidewalks and bridges, headed by Alderman Carl Leehning, was authorized to make arrangements for the annual city employees picnic. The council voted to install a street light at Congress and Hanson streets.

NEA Directors Meeting Today

Lawrence Dean's Father Named Head Of Education Group

Milwaukee—The National Education Association's board of directors met today as an aftermath to the group's seventy-eighth annual convention "to express a preference for the next convention city."

The expression is tantamount to selection of a convention site, although final action rests with the association's executive committee.

The convention officially concluded last night with the selection of officers.

Donald DuShane of Columbus, Ind., the only candidate for the office, was unanimously named president. (He is the father of Donald DuShane, Jr., Lawrence college dean of students.) B. F. Stanton, of Alliance, O., was elected treasurer, and John W. Thalman, of Waukegan, Ill., Albert Shaw, of Los Angeles, and Myrtle Hooper Dahl, of Minneapolis, executive committee members.

Delbert M. Draper, Democratic candidate for the United States senate from Utah, and Congressman Karl E. Mundt, (Rep-S. Dak.) addressed the closing session.

Draper told the educators that "the Democratic party will pursue and extend all policies that it has initiated in the last seven years that have proved to be beneficial."

Mundt declared that the nation was looking to Wendell L. Wilkie, the Republican presidential nominee, "almost prayerfully to advance the objectives of peace, preparedness, prosperity and patriotism" which were given primacy in the Republican platform adopted in Philadelphia.

The meeting earlier adopted resolutions, including a plea for national preparedness without "injuring youth by interrupting" normal educational services.

Lutheran Society Has Meeting at Church

Hortonville—Bethlehem Lutheran Young People's society met Tuesday evening in the church parlor. The lunch committee included Antonette Ratzburg, Arnold and Robert Schneider, Lois Lucke, Violette and Julia Lapp; entertainment committee, Leola Schmidt, Georgiana Handschke and Marie Ratzburg. The society accepted an invitation to a wiener roast at the Lapp cottage on the Wolf river on Tuesday, July 16.

The general committee appointed for this party includes Arnold and Robert Schneider, Violette Lapp and Myrna Ratzburg. The next regular meeting of the society will be held on Tuesday, July 30. This meeting will be for the month of August.

Test Shows White House on Side of Defense Commission

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—White House support for the Stettinius-Knudsen defense commission has so far been all that could have been desired.

A real test brought the president down firmly on the side of the commission. It concerned centralizing procurement.

There are three main purchasing agents, or were, for the United States government—the army, the navy and the treasury procurement office. Jealousies have been intense for years. Co-ordination was imperative if the ordering of defense materials was not to be hopelessly confused in a scramble by three mutually jealous agencies.

The Stettinius-Knudsen commission recommended that army, navy and treasury procurement be combined. Everyone agreed that the man for the job was Donald Nelson of Sears-Roebuck, a veteran of NRA who recently was brought into treasury procurement.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau was agreeable naturally to the selection of Nelson. But Secretary Morgenthau wanted the post set up under the treasury. The Stettinius-Knudsen group wanted it. The issue was carried to the president. He decided that it belonged under the defense commission, agreeing that there should be no separation of a key man from that body.

That also takes care of the troublesome question of priorities for the time being. At present the principal priority problems arise almost entirely from conflicts between the army and navy. Co-ordinator Nelson is in a position to decide these conflicts and to advise manufacturers which orders are to be given preference in cases where production facilities are not equal to current demand.

Another of his tasks is to standardize specifications. Army and navy specifications often differ in unnecessary respects.

Before long defense orders as such probably will come into competition at various points with private commercial orders. No serious problems of this kind have as yet developed, but when they do, it is the plan to set up a separate office, not connected in any way with the defense commission. The task will be delicate because the government has no direct authority to tell a manufacturer that he shall make this and not that. So long as the conflict is between the army and navy, the government can decide that directly. But asking a manufacturer to lay aside a commercial order is something else again. Persuasion and indirect pressure are the only means available in instances where patriotic impulse alone is not sufficient to obtain results.

Vital for Commission To Avoid Embarrassment
Since the defense commission is concentrating on maximum production and is relying upon the co-operative good will of manufacturers, there is some point in being careful not to saddle it with the task of trying to enforce priorities and thus setting up conflicts between the commission and the manufacturers. An independent officer, responsible directly to the president, is therefore desired to relieve the commission of embarrassments that might impede its effectiveness.

Similarly the defense commission as at its own desire been relieved of responsibility for issuing export licenses just authorized under new legislation. Under this power, export of materials or equipment deemed necessary for national defense may be forbidden by the refusal to grant a license. A separate agency will handle that, again excusing the defense agency from work that would involve irritations and conflicts with manufacturers.

In general the disposition is to keep the defense commission clear for two major tasks. The first is to insure a supply of needed materials—raw materials such as rubber and tin, and manufactured materials such as armor plate. That is under Stettinius. The second task

George B. Harris Will Be Buried Saturday

Waukesha—(AP)—Funeral services will be held Saturday for George B. Harris, 79, former member of the state board of control, who died late Wednesday after a long illness.

Harris served on the board of control under four governors until he resigned in 1935 because of ill health, and was a member of the Republican state central committee several terms. He also was prominent in the Masonic lodge and was a partner in a butter and cheese firm which conducted 50 factories in Iowa and Wisconsin until its dissolution.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter and four sons.

Second Story First

Pennington Gap, Va.—(AP)—Hugh Massingill owns a house which was built backwards! It happened like this:

About 18 years ago Cam Lewis built a cottage on a knoll. A later owner sold earth from the knoll until only a block of clay supported the cottage. Then the corners were propped up and the clay dug away, leaving the building on stilts.

When Massingill bought the house he built a new set of rooms underneath the old, and added porches.

Babson Looks For Business To Make Gains

Outlook Is Tied Up With Defense Program and European Struggle

BY ROGER BABSON

Manchester, N. H. — Business activity in the next two months should constantly improve as a whole, — although some lines and localities will suffer due to European conditions. Statistics show that business is picking up every day, unemployment is declining, and there is a much better spirit among all business men.

With newspapers full of uncertainties regarding wars, national conventions, and other depressing items, it is a relief to focus one's attention on the good news coming from the domestic front.

The outlook for the next few weeks is tied up with the defense program and the European war. The best authorities say, "the war will last three to five months or three to five years, but they refuse to say which." Huge British orders (which include the former French orders) plus America's own armament program should, however, keep the heavy industries rolling in high speed for some time to come.

On the other hand, if the European war ceases before the American defense program can get well under way, there may be a temporary setback. Yet, before the end of the year, business should be far better in this country than it is now.

Business Figures Rising
Current statistics show that activity is already moving along at a high level. Freight carloadings have reached a new peak for 1940 and are second highest for any similar week since 1930. Railroad earnings are the best in years. Yet, prices of railroad securities have drifted back to their 1932 lows.

Textile mills have stepped-up schedules since the German armies destroyed many of the big mill centers in Northern France and Belgium. Gray goods sales have been tremendous in the past few weeks. Rising retail sales will help to work off inventories, which are said to be heavy.

Automobile assembly lines have turned out nearly as many cars as in any half years since 1929. The loss of the export markets for automobiles in the Low Countries and France is more than made up by new business in other directions. Production of cars in recent weeks has been running above retail sales to stock up so that plants can make their model changes. Hence, a decline in automobile production will now take place.

Steel Industry Active
Steel operations have smashed their way forward to the highest level for this particular period since 1929. The end of the war might hit the steel industry harder than most others, but not necessarily. Inventories in consumers' hands are said to be even higher than in 1937. Our own armament program would take up the slack later on, but there would be a let-down before this happened.

Armament industries are just beginning to feel the effects of the defense program. How much they will add to the business total in the next couple of months is uncertain just now. Investors, business men, and workers should, however, keep in mind that this nation is entering upon the biggest armament program ever undertaken by any nation at any time. Therefore, what is now on the books is mere sampling. It is expected that a billion dollars will be spent to increase present shipyards, munition, and arsenal capacity merely to take care of the huge orders which will be placed.

Retail trade is remarkably good. It is running 10 per cent or more above a year ago. Best comparisons with 1939 levels are coming from the industrial areas of the Middle-west, poorest from the South and Pacific Coast. Rising payrolls mean that these gains should continue.

Record Tourist Season
Tourist business: Due to the war in Europe and the hesitancy of cruising even to the "West Indies," South America, Alaska, and other places, all tourist money will be left in this country and Canada this year. The greater efforts which the railroad and bus lines are making in developing travel and the continuation of the two world fairs indicate that this summer will see the largest vacation season on record.

Politics: The general impression is that the platform and nominees of the Republican Party are a very constructive move. It surely should make F. D. R. "count ten" before he runs for a third term. Already the market acts as if Willkie and McNary have a real chance.

Security and commodity prices are steady to stronger. In fact, they have recovered one-third of their May break. Dividend payments are generous, earnings are tremendous. Securities are actually cheaper today in relation to earnings than at any time in the past 20 years.

Opposition for 2 County Offices

Waupaca — Papers are being circulated this week for all officials within the county who will be up for the fall election. Only opposition to date for any of the offices is for the register of deeds and district attorney. Mrs. Alice Larkoe, incumbent register of deeds, will be opposed by Paul Behm, Waupaca, and George Brooks, Ogdensburg.

Attorney Don Zwickie, Clintonville, will oppose Attorney J. Kyle Anderson for the office of district attorney. Paul Roman, incumbent, has decided not to seek reelection.

New London Pair Now Running Gas Station

Medina — Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Steingraber, New London, have taken over the filling station formerly operated by Delbert F. Draheim.

Miss Jennabelle Perkins entertained the following recently at a dinner party at her home: Alex Miller, Lincoln, Neb.; Patricia and Donald Ray, Helen Sweet, Mildred and Bernice Knutzen, Hazel Lembo, Geraldine Ruppel, Coyla Langman, Dorothy and Robert Bramer, Helen Rapprager, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kleiner, Arline and Chester Nelson, Gordon and Louis Schiesser, Ronald Winkler, Harold Stribig, Earl Oestrich, Perry Hopkins, Bruce Hills, Francis Nieuwenhuis, Margaret and Sylvester Stengel.

The following surprised Mrs. Mary Olson on her birthday Friday evening at the home of her son, Clarence Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Peters, Mrs. Lena Draheim, Mrs. Delbert Draheim and daughters, Mary and Dianne and son Robert, Mrs. Sherman Klein and daughter Cordell, Mrs. Cornelia Hecker, Mrs. John Schroeder, Mrs. LeRoy Lembo and daughter Hazel, Mrs. Elmer Gast, Mrs. Gerald Ruppel and daughter Dorothy, and Patricia and Bruce Miller, Appleton.

Mrs. Erwin Breyer entertained the following at a birthday party in honor of her son Keith: Elsie Borgwardt, Felicia Brooks, Beverly Dey, Jean and Duane La Fortune, Robert Draheim, Marlin Wagner, Franklin Knutzen and Franklin Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Stengel attended a birthday party in honor of Mrs. Ernest Kroeger Thursday evening at her home at Ellington.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Langman have received word of the birth of a daughter Mary Helen to Mr. and Mrs. Neal J. Langman, Angola, Indiana. Mr. Langman was a former Medina resident.

Arthur Goebel Spends Holiday at Waupaca
Waupaca — Arthur Goebel, famous flier, landed in this city Thursday morning to spend the Fourth of July with his old friends, Colonel and Mrs. L. W. Johnson, this city's widely known shooting team.

Just one year ago the pilot was a guest of the Johnsons, but at that time he was unable to fly to the city which was without landing field. Now the city has its landing field and its hangar.

The world took notice of Goebel when in 1927 he won the $25,000 prize for making the 2,467 mile hop over the Pacific in 26 hours and 17 minutes. Since that time he has set numerous records.

The pilot will spend the week-end in Clintonville where he will be the highlight of an airplane conference being held in that city.

Garden Club Picnic Will Be Held Monday
Waupaca — Mr. and Mrs. E. Griffith Williams will leave this week-end for Chicago where Mr. Williams will enter the Presbyterian hospital for the removal of an eye. During their absence from the local golf course, Mrs. Ben Hale, sister of Mrs. Williams, will be in charge of the course. Mr. and Mrs. Hale recently arrived from their home in San Diego and are spending the summer at the chain o'lakes.

Miss Imogene Cowan left Thursday for Green Lake where she will be the guest of friends and on Saturday attend the marriage of Miss Ruth Chittenden.

The annual picnic of the Waupaca Garden Club is to be held Monday at Whispering Pines, the Christ Hyldegaard estate. Roll call will be answered by the name of a bird or by a bird story. During the afternoon plans for the summer flower show, in charge of Mrs. Vincent Parrish, will be discussed.

better than it was last July and August. If the war continues, our armament program will be added to the current level of activity, giving us the second best summer's business since 1929—maybe even the best! In saying this I am not forgetting the horrors in Europe.

I have just received a request to join in petitioning President Roosevelt to appoint a day of prayer in connection with the European war. I believe in prayer, but I believe in doing everything I can first, before turning things over to God to do for me! I also believe in praying that my will shall be in accordance with God's will. I do not believe in asking God to bend His will to suit me. Furthermore, God says to me: "Only when the leaders of all the nations will unite at one place to pray sincerely for guidance can I answer their prayers for peace." I wonder how many readers of this column feel likewise—or am I wrong?

Willkie Nomination Puts Badgers in Awkward Spot

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—The nomination of Wendell Willkie as Republican candidate for the presidency has produced a shock among Wisconsin congressmen as strong as those caused by electricity from the candidate's own utilities.

Willkie is suspect among the state delegation mainly on the grounds of foreign policy and reciprocal trade agreements. The Republicans, as a whole, find themselves between two fires. They may stick with Willkie, who has in the past advocated aid to the allies and supported the trade treaties. In this case, it is necessary to backtrack on their own stands, and also give the Progressives a probable boost. Or they may oppose Willkie, thus causing disunity in the Republican party.

The general tendency is, however, for Republican representatives of Wisconsin to stand together, in the hopes that Willkie will abide by party lines.

Congressman Joshua L. Johns, Algonia Republican, who has previously remained neutral regarding the Republican presidential campaign, and did not even attend the convention, regards Willkie as "the strongest candidate the Republican party could nominate at this time to secure votes."

Doesn't Like Position
"I don't like his position on the reciprocal trade treaties, although he does not say positively that he's for them," Johns says. "He made a diplomatic statement when he said he approved of the trade treaties in principle, but he has never said he not so sure but that many others approved of them in practice. I am would approve of them in principle if they would do all the things claimed for them by the Democratic party, which they don't," he asserts.

"One thing is sure," he continues. "Mr. Willkie will get a large democratic vote, and I would not be surprised to see him carry Virginia, North Carolina, Florida and Texas, as well as the border states."

Johns recently sent to the Chicago Tribune, his proposed slogan, "Draft Willkie."

Waupaca Garden Club is to be held Monday at Whispering Pines, the Christ Hyldegaard estate. Roll call will be answered by the name of a bird or by a bird story. During the afternoon plans for the summer flower show, in charge of Mrs. Vincent Parrish, will be discussed.

whereupon there were published three cartoons with this slogan as their theme. "While Mr. Willkie is opposed to our entering the war in Europe and that, of course, makes the Republican party the peace party," Johns maintains. "Mr. Roosevelt has made the Democratic party the war party with his utterances and also his actions."

Majority Rules
Congressman Frank B. Keefe, Oshkosh Republican, commenting on the Willkie nomination, simply says he is a "believer in majority rule. Willkie has very definitely accepted the provisions of the Republican platform and very definitely modified and changed his views on reciprocal trade agreements, so that he indicates opposition to any reciprocal trade program which is injurious to the American producer." Keefe predicts a "colorful and positive campaign" and points out that the party platform calls for "keeping out of war."

Congressman Reid Murray, Waupaca Republican, states, "The people of Wisconsin, in my district, emphatically endorsed the candidacy of Thomas Dewey. This was done in a free and open primary. On the basis that 'the will of the people is the law of the land,' I gave this delegation my unqualified support. As I read the Republican platform," he says further, "it insists that we stay out of war and that we are to eliminate the one-man tariff system, in other words we are to discontinue the Hull reciprocal trade treaties whereby the power is delegated to one man to control the milk checks of every farmer in America and also directly control the grocer bill of every family in our country. I understand Mr. Willkie has subscribed to this platform," he concludes.

Children's Board Will Meet at Clintonville

Weyauwega — Mrs. L. F. Corry, secretary, will attend meeting of children's board at the home of Chairman Clarence Zachow, Clintonville, July 8. Members of the Waupaca County Children's board include chairman Zachow; L. W. Eastling, Manawa, vice chairman; Mrs. Corry; Mrs. S. W. Johnson, Waupaca; Mrs. F. J. Pfeifer, New London, and Judge A. M. Scheller, Waupaca.

Howard Holcombe, a junior in Weyauwega High school, and Robert French, a 1940 High school graduate, left Thursday evening for Ft. Snelling, Minn., where they will be in the artillery division at the summer camp. Holcombe, a baritone player, and French, who played a French horn, hope to be in the band at camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Eddy of LaCrosse have purchased the fixtures and equipment of the Y-O-Wega Eat Shop and took possession Tuesday. The restaurant was formerly operated by Guerdon Rewey, who has moved to Neenah.

Mrs. D. C. McCarthy opened a restaurant on Main street this week in the building formerly occupied by McCarthy's tavern.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Pagel and Mrs. L. Kent Ashford of Washington, D. C., arrived Wednesday to spend a month with relatives in Wisconsin. They are now guests of their mother, Mrs. F. A. Pagel.

The J. F. F. club met with Mrs. J. W. Sherburne Wednesday evening. Winners at auction were Mrs. William Radtke, Mrs. Myrtle Olson and Mrs. Loren Gimberling.

Apply for Permit

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Babino, 226 E. Wisconsin avenue, Wednesday applied at the city clerk's office for a permit to operate a beauty shop in the residential district at 114 N. Union street. The shop now is at 109 N. Morrison street.

Council Members Named To New Industries Group

Clintonville — Two members of the council were appointed to meet with the new industries committee of the association of commerce in compliance with a request from Loyal T. Higgins, association president. Mayor F. A. Spearbraker named John Tanty and William L. Gould to this committee at the regular July meeting of the council Tuesday evening.

P. V. Chaffee, airport manager, appeared at the meeting and offered to take a $20 per month reduction in salary as manager of the Clintonville Municipal airport. He had been paid $85 per month for this work. In addition to his duties as manager, Mr. Chaffee repairs airplane motors, which are brought here for that purpose.

City Clerk S. J. Tilleson was authorized to advertise for bids for street flushing for the ensuing year. The street committee will arrange a schedule stating which streets are to be flushed and how often it is to be done.

A building permit was granted to S. A. LaViolette for an addition to the elevator which he recently purchased from the Northern Milling company.

Monthly bills were allowed and reports given by the street department, police department, city treasurer and milk inspector. Dr. G. W. Krusback, milk inspector, reported that several milk dealers supplying milk to this city have failed to comply with his requests for better sanitation around their barns and milk houses. They will again be notified to make the necessary improvements before more drastic measures are taken.

Accept New Plat
The council accepted the plat of the F.W.D. company for a tract of land in the northeast section of the city known as the Four Wheel Drive Tractor company's second addition. The lots were platted by Leon Peleshek, engineer.

The matter of repairing the Mathews house on W. Thirteenth street was discussed and was referred to the public property committee. The property was decided to the city by the aged couple several years ago in return for their keep. Both have died during the last two years.

In accordance with Section 9, Ordinance No. 6, an annual license fee of $15 will be imposed on theaters in this city.

Tavern operator's licenses were granted to Gordon Wyatt, Steve Bruley, John O'Connor and Lovina Daniels.

Aldermen voted to pay 2 cents per mile to drivers of cars transporting local workmen to Manawa where they are employed on a relief project. About ten from Clintonville are employed there as present.

Wood cut last winter by local relief workers is being offered for sale by the city at $2.25 per cord. Cyril Downham and Jack Meyer left Thursday for Camp McCoy near Sparta where they will spend thirty days at C.M.T.C. camp. Leland Laux left the same day for Ft. Snelling, Minn., to attend camp.

Kenneth Lyon has arrived from San Francisco, Calif., to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lyon. The former has been employed at San Francisco for the last two years. He made the trip by airplane to Chicago, where he was met by his father.

Superintendent of Schools Harley J. Powell and Mrs. Powell returned home Wednesday evening from Milwaukee, where they had attended the National Education association convention.

The circulation department of the Appleton Post-Crescent is represented in Clintonville by James Bohr, 16 Main street. Orders for subscriptions may be left with him. Subscribers missed by carriers should call Mr. Bohr (telephone 5571) before 7 p. m.

St. Agnes Guild Is Entertained at Party

Wauwac — Mrs. L. D. Smith was hostess to the St. Agnes Guild of St. Mark's Episcopal church at a 1:30 pot luck luncheon Tuesday. Small tables were set up in the Smith's outdoor living room on the banks of the Wauwac river. Rain later forced them indoors.

Three tables of bridge were in play during the afternoon with high honors going to Mrs. Rex Rosenow and consolation to Mrs. Erle Whipple.

Guests, not members of the guild, were 88-year-old Mrs. Will Cowan and her daughter Miss Imogene; Mrs. Larry Martin and Mrs. Ford Whipple of Madison. Father F. B. Marcell also was present.

Mrs. A. E. Woody was hostess to the Beatrice Auxiliary at her cottage Wood-D lodge on Columbian lake Tuesday evening. Sixteen members were present for a pot luck supper.

After a business session Mrs. Woody opened the discussion on "The Way Before Us," dealing with the reorganization which is following the union of the north and south branches of the Methodist churches.

Eric Kirk Is Granted Permit to Build Home

Eric Kirk, 822 W. Franklin street, Wednesday received a permit from the city building inspector to build a residence at 1831 N. Clark street. The house will be 30 by 28 feet in size with a garage, 12 by 20 feet. Cost is estimated at $5,500. A permit to build a house at 1518 W. Packard street was given to Ray Jarchow, 622 N. Appleton street. The house will cost approximately $4,000 and will be 32 by 26 feet in size. The garage will be 12 by 22 feet.

Day I. Williams, 504 E. Circle street, received a permit to build a garage, 12 by 24 feet in size. Cost is estimated at $250.

With the cellar yawning in a most alarming manner as a result of two defeats yesterday at the hands of the Green Bay Bluejays, the Appleton Papermakers will show here at 8:30 this evening in a game that will draw the club further into the depths or enable it to pull itself up a point or two. Higgins, a new pitcher who stands 6 feet, 8 inches, will be the starting hurler.

The evening's program will open at 8:15 as usual with Al Schacht, famous baseball player and comedian, taking over. Schacht is rated the biggest laugh getter in baseball and that doesn't bar the Brooklyn Dodgers. He has been a regular attraction at world series and is reported to be making one of the biggest salaries in baseball through the medium of giving the folks a laugh. Bleacherites may get tickets at the northwest and southeast gates tonight.

Appleton returned to the Fox River Valley yesterday and played a game here in the afternoon that showed desperate need for some outfielding. Weir, efforts in the garden were the direct cause of the flop. The score was 9 to 8.

The evening's game saw Green Bay get 15 hits while Appleton got ten. However, the Jays counted better per run per hit aided and abetted by Appleton miscues. The score was 8 to 3.

Green Bay scored three runs in the third. Delmore singled and took second when the ball got away from Danaisak. Sherman scored Delmore with a double but Gillespie and Sattler were out. Then Novak doubled to score Sherman and tallied on two singles that followed.

Another run came in the fifth. Gillespie doubled and the ball got past Aronson for another base. Danaisak made a great catch of Novak's hard drive but Gillespie scored after the catch.

Appleton broke the ice with a run in the sixth. Hawk singled and galloped all the way home when Chell doubled to deep center.

The Jays came back with two in their half the sixth and Appleton got one in the seventh. Aronson singled to left. Hoffken singled to right and Tomich fanned. Malattia was safe on a hit off Hope's glove leading the bases. Malattia rolled to short and Hope played the ball to first base believing there were two down. Aronson scored on the play.

Green Bay counted two more runs in the eighth and Appleton got one in the ninth when Aronson opened with a double. Hoffken popped and Williams, pinch hitting for Tomich, singled to center.

Vans Valley 5, Duck Creek 0.

GAMES SUNDAY
Eilers at Hebels.
Denmark at Vans Valley.
Onelda at Duck Creek.

Green Bay—Two previously postponed games were played Thursday afternoon in the Northeastern Wisconsin league and both resulted in shutouts, with one game featuring a pitchers' duel.

Hebels retained its lead in the circuit by handing Denmark a 1-0 defeat. Johnny Rowe, hurler for the losers, turned in a two hit game, including 12 strikeouts, while his opponent, Johnny Tomlin, held the Danes to but four hits and garnering a dozen strikeouts. A home run by Rasmussen in the sixth inning spelled defeat for Denmark. For the first five frames neither pitcher yielded a single safe blow.

In the other contest Vans Valley took second place in defeating Duck Creek, 5 to 0.

New York Scribe Hopes Tony Is Out of Picture for Good

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York (P)—Chitter chatter:

If you believe in signs and traditions, get your dough down on the Dodgers and the Indians — they were leading July 4. . . They sued Signor Galento for his share of the Baer fight, but Tony out-smarted 'em. He sold $13,000 worth of pastebards at his Orange pub and is holding onto the dough—just about his share, less managers' cuts. . . Those Browns are getting so tough they're even pitching Master Feller against them.

Foul Tips

Max Baer's horoscope said he was due for an upset in July, and a palmist told him the same thing. . . Nuts to 'em. . . The wires yesterday confirmed our story that Buddy Rosar of the Yanks would be married July 9 (despite Joe McCarthy's no-marrying-in-midseason edict). . . Walter Hagen has offered to bet $1,000 the United States Ryder cup team beats Squire Gene Sarazen's all-stars in their Red Cross match at Detroit July 16-17. If he wins, Hagen will give the dough to the Red Cross. . . Dizzy Dean's grandma still is urging him to quit baseball and become an old-time revival preacher. . . Can you imagine that?

Today's Guest Star

Dan Parker, N. Y. Mirror: "I think I voice the sentiments of thousands of boxing fans when I express the hope that we have heard the last of this uncouth, un-funny, unskilled, unethical and unspeakable braggart whom Baer so thoroughly defeated. . . Galento dragged boxing from its usual habitat in the gutter into the sewer."

El Goofy Gomez, who used to toss a knuckle ball in the Pacific Coast league, used it for the first time in the major while beating Washington the other day. . . When Jackie Hayes (who almost lost his eyesight) returns to the White Sox lineup, he'll wear a special helmet as protection while batting. . . Max Baer has a swell-looking youngster.

Non-Stopper

This is the eightieth day of the big league baseball season. . . And Buck Newsom of Detroit is undefeated in 84 of them. . . Buck hasn't lost a game since the Browns beat him, 5-1, in the opener.

Chaff'n Chatter
By Gordon R. McIntyre

It all seems rather infantile, but we suppose you should be advised that the Emmett Mortell-Abe Goldin row at Kaukauna a few nights ago has found a third entrant in the form of Leslie Arndt, a Kaukauna sports writer and sometimes manager of softball teams.

As you probably know, Mortell, playing with the Green Bay Astor Bombers against the Kaukauna Klub chess team, was peeved at a decision by Umpire Goldin in a game at Kaukauna, lost his temper and slugged the umpire. The act aroused Kaukauna fans who swarmed onto the field and the game was "blacked out" when the lights were turned off to stop a near riot.

Goldin, who also is the justice of the peace at Kaukauna, is reported to be considering a damage suit against Mortell. That's the way the matter stood and it might all have blown over had not Arndt dispatched a letter to the Green Bay Press-Gazette in which he riddled Mortell with charges. He also attacked the Bombers and the Green Bay Packers several of whose members play with the Bombers.

Now there is talk Mortell is considering the possibilities of legal action against Arndt whose letter to the Press-Gazette contained charges that didn't jibe with reported facts about the game. Also the letter was a definite attack on the Packers and "you can't do that to the Packers" at least in Green Bay.

In other words, the squabble, which probably could have been settled in the usual assault and battery manner, has spread out over more territory than the European war.

We saw our first Northern State league game last week and were impressed with one thing—the boys have slowed up an awful lot. They still may be able to hit but their efforts afield have fallen considerably in the last year or two. Some of the most graceful fielders in the valley in past years let balls go they could have taken in their back pockets a couple years back.

And the infield efforts made some of the lads in the Wisconsin State league look like Jesse Owens.

Norman Clusman's tumble on his attempted home run came as result of sheer exhaustion. He remarked afterwards that the ground just came up to meet him.

But the circuit still has a good publicity agent in George W. Calhoun over at Green Bay. This week Cal commented that a youngster named Herman was going great at third base for Two Rivers. As a matter of fact, he played in the outfield in his most recent appearance and against Seymour he had several miscues which lost the game for Two Rivers. He played third in that game.

Not that we are trying to stir up a row over the merits of State league and Northern State league baseball. In a series we'd put out shekles, both of them, on the kids in the State loop. For one game—with one of the older pitchers doing the twirling—we'd probably take the old timers.

Porky Penzenstadler will be on the mound for the visitors. Fans will remember Porky as a former mainstay of Green Bay and Seymour teams in the Northern State league.

Manager Wildenberg will probably start Lefty Vander Zanden or Bucher on the mound. Both peggers are in perfect form. Next Sunday the Papermakers will resume play in the valley league when they open up the second half with Menasha here. With the Papermakers in their old form, they should show plenty of action during the last half.

Madison Blues Take 2 In Three Eye League

By the Associated Press
The Cedar Rapids Red Raiders not only have wrested the Three Eye league lead from Clinton, but also have won the right to oppose the league's all star team July 19.

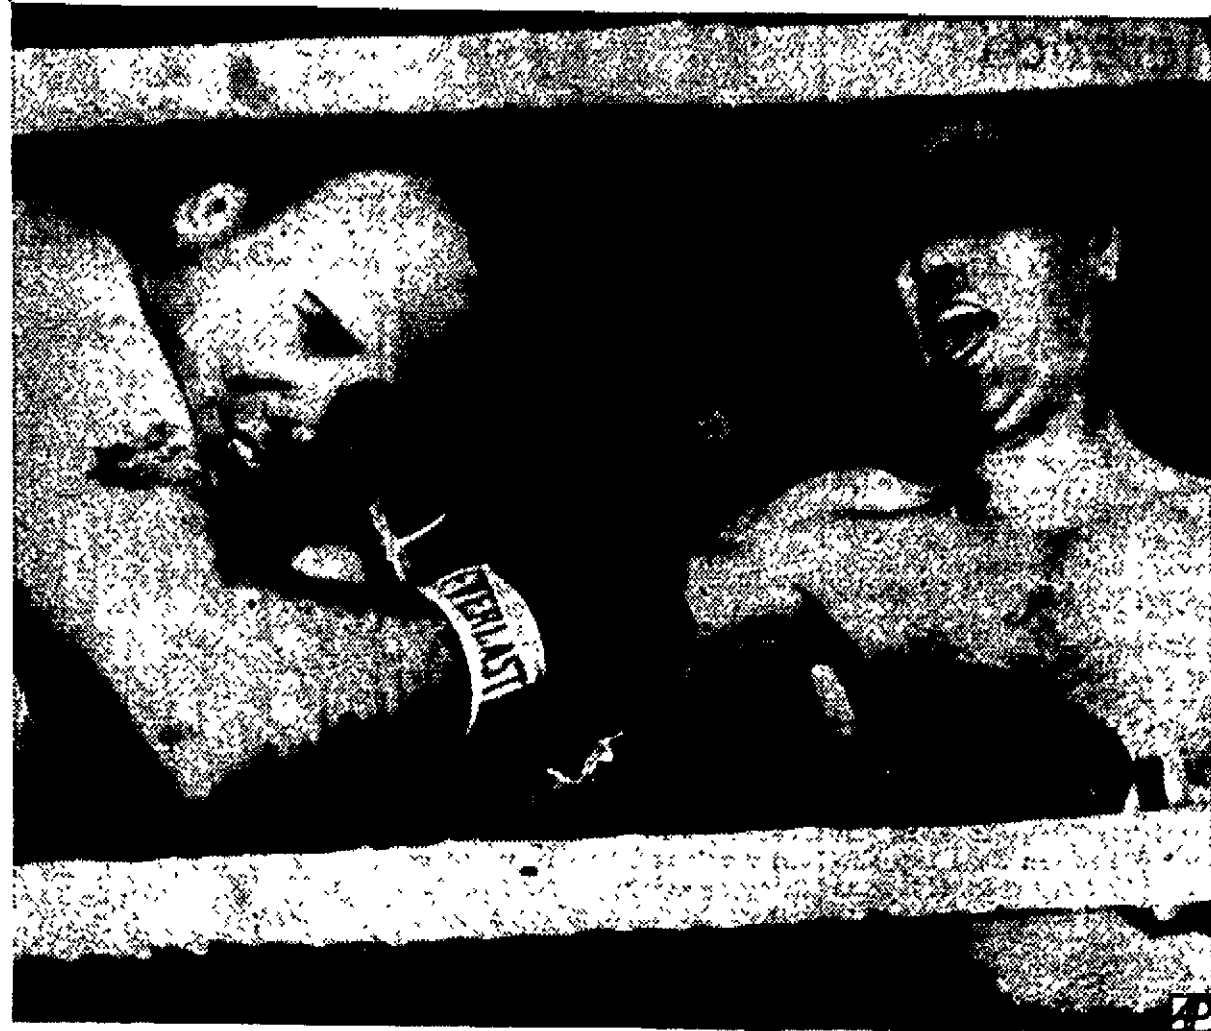

Club members decided the team heading the standings after July 4 games would be the host club to an all star selection picked from the other outfits.

Five points behind Clinton before yesterday's games, Cedar Rapids swept a double header with Waterloo 7 to 1 and 11 to 2 while the Giants were losing a pair to Madison, 3 to 1 and 2 to 1.

The holiday also brought forth a no-hitter, Earl Jones of Springfield turning the trick in a seven-inning game against Decatur and winning, 4 to 0. Decatur won the opener 7 to 4. In the other twin bill, Evansville nipped Moline, 13 to 12, and then lost 4 to 3 in another close game decided in the ninth.

Statistical Rules Will Be Tough on College Football Ballyhoo Artists

Madison—Probably the ballyhoo artists of college football won't like the suggested statistical rules that a coaches committee recommended at a meeting recently in Minneapolis but the public should welcome them as a sane approach to a controversial subject.

Harry Stuhldreher, athletic director at Wisconsin, and George Veenker, athletic director at Iowa State, did the bulk of the work in drawing up the code after consulting coaches and sports writers in all sections of the country.

The punter who averaged 50 yards for an afternoon may find his average trimmed by the rule that punts going over the goal line for a touchback are measured only to the 20 yard line.

This will favor the punters who aim for the corners on out-of-bounds kicks.

A forward passer risks his ground-gaining record every time he goes back to pass, for any yardage lost when he's trapped there without getting rid of the ball is charged against his gains from scrimmage.

Strictly speaking, there is no lateral pass statistics now, for the lateral pass is figured in with the ultimate play, whether it follows or precedes a pass or a run from scrimmage.

"This has been a long time coming, and it still isn't perfect," said Chairman Veenker, "but it's a great step forward."

"Everyone may not agree on the plan, but at least we can make it a standard everywhere."

"Things got so bad last year we had reports that one statistician set down the gross statistics for his team and the net yardage losses deducted, for the other—just to make his boys look good."

Other significant points were the decision that touchdowns did not count as first downs and that all gains were to be recorded as through the defensive positions. The code follows:

First Downs

1. A lateral pass is always only a part of the ultimate play, whether it precedes or follows this play.

2. A first down shall be recorded only when the yard sticks are ordered forward by the officials; consequently, there is no first down when a touchdown is scored.

Net Yards Rushing

3. Rushing yardage is measured from the scrimmage line to the point where the ball is declared dead. The rushing total is net figure. All gains on lateral passes, which originated or grew out of a rushing play are included in rushing yardage. All yardage lost must be recorded in yards lost rushing.

Forward Passes

4. Forward pass gains are measured from the scrimmage line to the point where the ball is declared dead, including the length of the pass and the running advance after completion.

5. Loss from a completed forward pass which did not advance the ball to the scrimmage line is a yardage charge against passing gain.

6. Since the player attempting to pass always has the option of running with the ball, record any losses where passer is thrown behind the line of scrimmage before he can get the ball away as a loss from rushing. (He is not a passer until he has thrown the ball.)

7. Interception returns are measured from the point of interception to the point where the ball is declared dead.

8. Ball in mid-field, fourth down, nine yards to go. Jones throws a forward pass intended for Green. The pass is ruled complete because of interference on the 35 yard line. Do not record this under forward passes because the gain resulted directly from enforcement of a penalized 15 yards. (There is no pass completed by a penalty; penalty is a first down by penalty and opponents charged against defending team.)

Kicks

9. Ultimate punts are measured from the line of scrimmage to the point of farthest advance if the ball remains within the field of play or goes out-of-bounds. When the ball goes over the goal line, the punt is measured from the line of scrimmage to the 20 yard line only.

10. Punts blocked are in item "Number of punts," and the yardage of a partially blocked or blocked kick is included under "Average Distance Punt."

Kick Returns

11. Include only the number of kicks or kickoffs that the receiving team actually attempts to return. The return will be measured from the point where the returning player actually gains control of the ball to the point where the ball is declared dead, unless the ball is lost. (In the event the return is muffed the yardage shall be measured to the point of recovery.)

Attempted Field Goals

12. Since the goal posts are 10 yards behind the goal line record the distance of attempted field goals as from the scrimmage line to the goal line, plus 10 yards. (Example: Line of scrimmage is 10 yard line; Jones kicks goal; record it as 20 yard goal.)

Penalties

13. All penalties and penalty yardage are charged to the team penalized. Regardless of whether it had possession of the ball.

Miscellaneous

14. Gains should be recorded in terms of defensive positions. (Thus, a halfback going around his own right end is making the gain—or loss—around left end.)

15. Like punts, kickoffs are to be recorded by calculating the dis-

Friday—Montgomery Ward versus Schlafer-Brett

Sears Roebuck turned back Pettibone's, 8 to 4, in a Merchants league tilt at Pierce park diamond Wednesday evening. With a 2 to 1 edge at the end of the second inning, Sears spurred with four runs in the fourth frame to take a commanding lead. It was the sixth straight win for Sears.

Nagel got two hits in two trips to the plate and F. Clausen got two hits in three chances for Sears. Ender and Murphy each got two hits out of four times at the plate for Sears.

Nagel and Herzog mounded for the winners and limited Pettibone's to nine hits. They both fanned one and Herzog walked four. Lillge toiled for the losers and was touched for 11 hits while striking out 2 and walking 2.

Because Fairmont's used two ineligible players, a game in which they defeated J. C. Penney company will be replayed.

History Repeats Itself in Special Riverview Event

The Americans defeated the British, 69 points to 67, in a War of the Revolution flag tournament at Riverview Country club yesterday. Members of the American team and points scored follow: Carson Harwood 14, William Playman 13, Carl Schaefer 11, A. R. Ellis 10, J. A. Ruhlberg 8, Dr. S. J. Kloehn, R. A. Knapp 4, Dr. J. L. Benton 3.

Dr. D. M. Gallaher took first honors in the individual flag tournament when he planted his flag 20 yards from the tee on his twentieth hole. Dr. E. L. Bolton was second when he reached the cup on the nineteenth hole and Carson Harwood was third when he came within 6 feet of the cup on the nineteenth.

G. Mattmiller won the contest for the longest drive on No. 1 when he poked the ball 275 yards. Cliff Burton was close to the cup on No. 3 when his ball landed just 12 inches away from the pin and the Rev. W. J. Spicer won on No. 8 with a shot 5 feet from the cup.

In the low putt contest for 18 holes, Dr. Gallaher was first with 27, Dr. Bolton second with 29 and Fred Rector third with 30.

With a blind bogey number of 88, the following won in that event: Dr. A. E. Rector 88, A. S. Bradford 88, A. H. Thuerer 87, Lee Barlament 86, A. R. Ellis 90, R. K. Wolter turned in a low net of 60, and Fletcher Mulkey had high net.

Kaukauna Juniors in Win Over Kimberly 9

Kimberly — Kaukauna American Legion juniors defeated Kimberly juniors in a ball game Wednesday, 6 to 4. J. Smith twirled the first two innings for Kimberly while M. Friebe took the mound for the remainder of the game for the Papermakers. Both pitchers were nicked for eight hits by the visitors while Kimberly got four off of Reith of the visitors.

Kimberly scored when F. Van Cuyk walked in the first frame. In the third frame they added three runs when J. Van Cuyk singled as well as C. Van Cuyk, J. Smith doubled and V. Vanden Boogaard got on by an error.

Kaukauna had Ranquett score on a walk and Rasmussen score on a single in the opening frame. They rallied in the second inning when Ranquett walked for a second time. Peeters, Spice, Rasmussen and Ranquett singled. Reichelt also scored in that inning when he got hit by a pitched ball.

Milwaukee Breaks Even With Blues

Milwaukee—The Milwaukee hopes of a twin victory over Kansas City went glimmering yesterday when the Blues rallied to take the nightcap, 8 to 4, after the Brewers had scored a 7 to 5 triumph in the opener.

Frank Makosky allowed the Blues 12 hits in the first game but kept them well scattered except in the third inning, when the visitors scored three times.

Milwaukee had a 2-0 lead in the second game until the Blues drove Kenny Jungles off the mound with a five-run blast in the fourth.

Please Accept Our Apology

To the several hundred of our tavern accounts who did not receive all the liquor which they ordered through our salesmen, we can only say we are sorry and wish to apologize. The notice given us on the 100 wine gallon exemption came so late that it allowed us only six days to take care of the tremendous number of orders which we were favored with by all our accounts.

We planned on the possibility of this exemption and filled our warehouse with liquor. Our inventory was the largest we ever had, and on top of this heavy inventory, we received a solid car of Old Fitzgerald and Belle of Bourbon Whiskey on Monday morning, June 24. When the news was released from Washington on Tuesday morning, June 25, of the 100 wine gallon exemption, we were swamped with orders, and in order to satisfy all our accounts it was necessary to apportion our large liquor stock so that all our accounts could at least receive most of their orders.

Every wholesaler in the country was up against the same condition that we were, so under the circumstances, we ask you again to please accept our apology.

Diplomacy Needed When Girl Falls for No-Good

BY DOROTHY DIX

A worried father whose pretty and talented young daughter is infatuated with a highly undesirable youth, who drinks and consorts with wild women and has no means of livelihood, wants to know how he can break off the affair and save the girl from wrecking her life by making a marriage that would be bound to end in disaster. Well, reasoning with a girl in love is one of the most hopeless tasks on earth, because, for the time being, she has taken leave of her senses; because she is blind to all she does not wish to see in the man and deaf to everything she does not desire to hear about him. She is in a state of mind in which she regards every criticism of the Boy Friend as a base calumny, and when she believes that the reason he drinks and philanders is because he is driven to it by doubt of her love. It is a delicate situation that needs to be handled with the utmost diplomacy, yet parents in their wrath and despair generally go at it roughshod and heavy-handed, with the result that they precipitate the marriage that they are trying to prevent.

Dorothy Dix The first suggestion, then, that I would make to the father who is trying to keep his daughter from making a fool match is to put honey on his lips and guile in his actions. Quit opposing her.

Stop pointing out the boy's faults and shortcomings to her. The only result of that is to make her his champion and be so anxious to justify him that she will excuse to herself weaknesses in his character and conduct that would otherwise have got on her nerves.

Don't forbid her to marry the lad unless you want her to clope with him the next night just to show that she is independent and will do as she pleases, and will not be dictated to by an old fogy of a father.

Don't shut the door in Romeo's face and refuse to let him come to the house. That will only make her meet him in hole-and-corner places and give the affair a romantic, cruel-parents-persecution complex that will make it doubly alluring.

On the contrary, urge the youth to spend as much time as possible in your house. Have him always under foot. There is nothing that can make a girl lose her taste so completely for a man as to get fed up with his society.

And a good strategic move is to have the undesirable lad brought in contrast with people who are better bred, better educated, who have better manners, who are more sophisticated than he is. Many a girl's passion has simply curled up and died a natural death when she first heard her heart's idol gargle his soup, or saw him sprawl on a sofa while ladies stood.

Instead of using arbitrary methods with a daughter who is bent upon self-destruction, try compromise and fair play. A certain father of my acquaintance whose daughter was enamored of a handsome youth who was a bad actor said to her: "Well, Mary, I've been thinking about this affair of yours and I have come to the conclusion that perhaps you may be right and I may be wrong about Tom, so let's try him out. Let's keep a record for two months in which each of us will set down the qualities he has that would make him desirable as a husband, or a bad risk, and then we will balance the good against the bad and see how he rates."

To this the girl eagerly consented, but long before the two months were up she had wiped Tom completely out of the picture as a matrimonial prospect. When contemplated in a cold matter of record, his failings far outweighed his curly hair and broad shoulders.

Ridicule is another potent weapon in slaying love's young dream, and it is especially effective when used by the members of the girl's set. Sally may be adamant to her mother's and father's tears and entreaties when they implore her to give up some dissipated ne'er-do-well, who would break her heart and drag her down into the gutter if she married him. She may refuse to listen to the warning of her elders who tell her that he wouldn't last six months as a husband.

But let Mamie and Maud and Carrie and Susie turn up their noses at him, and make fun of the way he dresses, and refuse to be seen out with him, and Sally can't take it. She begins to see him through their eyes and he is not Prince Charming, but a figure of fun. And all bets are off.

Oh, there are plenty of ways of breaking up love affairs, but, as the English say, it takes a bit of doing.

Beauty and You

BATH RACK—This rubber covered bath rack is a joy for it holds a book as well as necessary beauty aids. One can relax in perfumed water and read until sleep creeps up and demands we hop into bed!

There is no reason at all to thrash restlessly through a hot night and rob yourself of the rest you need. Make up your mind that you are going to sleep and then prepare yourself for a rest.

See that every bit of air that can swish through your bedroom enters it. Move your bed so you catch every breeze. Make up your bed with fresh linen, sleep without a pillow, and wear blinders if open windows and tied back curtains let in too much light. You may buy cotton blinders for a few cents in any drug store and they are easy to wear—not the least bit annoying.

Then take a bath, a nice, long bath in tepid water to which has been added your favorite scent. If you have a portable radio place it near the tub and listen to it while you grow sleepy! Or place a book in your tub rack, and read as you relax thoroughly in the soothing water.

Before Tubbing
You might give your skin a very thorough cleaning before getting into the tub, and your hair a brushing. If it is very hot, brush only until you feel your hair free and leave free. Don't comb it back into place, pin it high on your head or wrap it in a little fishnet cap for the night.

When you step from the tub, pat your skin dry slowly so you will not again get heated from the exertion of a brisk drying. Powder your body and slip into a fresh, cool nightgown, or wear none at all. The air on your skin during the night is good for it. Only a very false modesty keeps you from sleeping nude. You may have your robe within reach of your hand in case you must rise during the night.

More Slumber Decoys
If lovely fragrances soothe you, lightly sprinkle a bit of fresh cologne or perfume on your bottom sheet, or if a fresh flower is available which has a perfume you adore, place it near your nostrils on your bed. Sweet dreams be yours!

There is no need to resort to a sedative unless you are almost sick with worry and it is imperative that you get some forced rest. During the hot, hot weather, make it a habit to eat lightly at night-time, taking your heavier meal at midday. Remember, too, that cocktails, highballs and beer are all heating. Drink instead a fruit juice which is chilled, if you must have "something" during the hours just before bedtime.

When you lie down, go limp and "feel" that sleep is upon you. If you begin fretting, "I must sleep tonight," or "It's too hot to sleep," you won't sleep. Despite weather and thermometers we all must carry on, and if we learn to take heat in our stride, as we do joy and sorrow, we will find that "getting to sleep" isn't hard at all.

P.S.—If noise keeps you awake invest in ear plugs. Your drugist has a selection! The softer ones are the safest and they do greatly minimize annoying night noises.

A 30-day Acne Diet is available for ten cents. It is prepared for both sexes and summer is an excellent time to follow it and cure a blemished skin. Address Miss Lindsay, care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

GOOD THINGS FOR THE HOME

Marie Schneider's Tested Recipes

THE PERFECT SOUFFLE
You can be sure of souffles—the fluffiest ones for dessert, light yet nourishing ones for the main dish—with a set of recipes like these.

Curiously, both the sweet and main dish souffles are made with the same base of a white sauce, egg yolks with the whites carefully folded in. The flavorings, and sugar, or fish, meat and vegetables, are added to the mixture.

Answer: As a rule, olives and celery are passed with soup and you put them on the bread and butter plate if there is one. Otherwise, on the rim of your soup plate or on the table. Cottage cheese goes with salad and should be put on the left of the dinner plate.

Jolly companions meet. Since they were all served together, I think the salad plate was the obvious one to use for everything but the jelly. No rule, further than what ever seemed best to you applies, because all rules were broken to start with.

Emily Post's two booklets, "The Etiquette of Weddings," and "The Etiquette of Letters-Writing," really belong in every home. Send for them, enclosing ten cents for each one.

Chocolate Souffle
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
3 cups milk
3 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
12 squares unsweetened chocolate, cut in pieces

Melt butter in saucepan over low heat. Blend in flour and salt. Remove from heat. Add milk slowly, stirring until smooth. Add cut-up chocolate. Return to heat and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is very thick about 3 minutes. Remove from heat. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Add sugar gradually, and continue beating until thick, smooth and creamy. Add a small amount of the egg yolk mixture to the chocolate mixture, then add to the remaining egg mixture, adding it slowly and stirring as the mixtures are combined. Let cool to lukewarm. Blend in vanilla. Beat egg whites until frothy, add cream of tartar, and continue beating until egg whites are stiff enough to hold a point. Fold into chocolate mixture. Pour immediately into a well greased baking dish, and set dish in pan of hot water. Bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven 350 degrees F. Serve immediately with sweetened whipped cream. Makes 8 generous servings.

Pea Souffle
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup hot milk
1 cup peas, pureed
3 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon pepper

Melt butter, blend in flour, salt, pepper. Gradually add hot milk and beat until smooth. Beat egg yolks, until lemon colored and add. Stir in pureed peas. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry and fold into first mixture. Pour into buttered baking dish and bake in a slow oven 325 degrees F. about 35 minutes or until firm. Serves 4.

Cheese Souffle
2 tablespoons butter
12 tablespoons flour
12 tablespoons quick cooking tapioca
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt

Melt butter, blend in flour, salt, pepper. Gradually add hot milk and beat until smooth. Beat egg yolks, until lemon colored and add. Stir in pureed peas. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry and fold into first mixture. Pour into buttered baking dish and bake in a slow oven 325 degrees F. about 35 minutes or until firm. Serves 4.

Authority, Interference With Children Different

BY ANGELO PATRI

"I did not want him to buy the motorcycle. Now this has happened."
"Badly hurt?"
"He'll be lucky if his leg is saved. And we are being sued for damages. It wasn't really his fault but he shouldn't have been going so fast and then he wouldn't have had a blowout on the curve. But what can you do with boys? He had earned some of the money, some was his birthday and Christmas gifts that we had put in the bank for him, and they let him have it on time."

"He's about sixteen, isn't he?"
"Yes. But what could we do? You know how boys are these days."
They are no different from what they have been other days. They want the things grown men have and they will get them if they can manage it. If they are boys of proven responsibility they can be given some privileges in this direction, but, if, as often happens, they are spoiled children who think that their wish is another's obligation, they should be strictly controlled.

Exert Parental Authority
There are few boys who do not dream of owning a motorcycle, or an airplane, and beating the speed record. That dream comes as naturally to them as the down on their cheeks. That does not say it is to be made an actuality by the cowed parents of a noisy boy.

"But I don't think one ought to interfere with a boy's wish to grow up by doing grown-up things. Parents interfere too much!"
There is a difference in my mind between the exercise of a parental duty and interference with a child's way of life. The two are distinct and equally valuable ideas in child rearing. Authority is to be used sparingly but it is held in reserve for use in the rare times it is needed, as when a boy of no experience and no background of personal responsibility wants to take savings out of the bank to buy a motor car, a cycle, an airplane, boat or any other toy of his dreams. When children are irresponsible their parents must step in and use their authority.

Much Depends on Parents
When authority is used to thwart a child's perfectly healthy desire to be a person in his own right, that is interference, and it is wrong. When parents brush aside a child's choice of a life-work with, "No. That's not what you are going to do. I've always wanted a doctor in the family and you're going to be it," they abuse their authority and they interfere in a child's life. Nothing good ever comes of that.

Experienced parents know the difference between these two attitudes without any chart. If they, in indulgence and selfishness, choose to ignore it they ought not to blame the child for the catastrophe that follows. They alone are to blame for not doing their duty. Children need their parents. Nature allows parents to live only because they are needed, removing them when the need has passed. Usefulness is rewarded by long life and happiness.

The happiness of parents is in proportion to the happiness of their children, the love their children have for them. No spoiled child ever thanked his people for spoiling him, but many a happy man and woman blessed their fathers and mothers for the training and discipline they gave them.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Case Records of a Psychologist

By Dr. George W. Crane

Psychologist, Northwestern University

Here is a not uncommon case showing extreme derangement of moral perspective. Would you advise Lucille to let this she-devil stay in her home and pollute her youngsters? There is a limit to filial devotion. Horse sense should be employed, even in dealing with our close relatives.

CASE R-111: Lucille G., aged 35, is the mother of three young sons. "But my problem involves my mother," she hesitatingly began our interview.
"Mother never loved my father. She stayed with him probably because of the need for his support. He was a fine man, but for some reason she didn't seem to care for him."
"We children were grown and married when Father died. Shortly thereafter Mother took his insurance money and moved to New York."

"There she went to the dogs. We know of seven men she lived with without benefit of marriage."
"She seems to have no morals at all. If she comes to visit our home, she tries to pollute the children."
"Dr. Crane, we don't know what to do for her. Should we let her lead her own life, or try to get her to settle down and live among her children?"
DIAGNOSIS:
What would you readers recommend in this case? I haven't fully enumerated the signs of degeneracy in this woman of 60, who has four morally upright children, but certainly has lost her own moral judgment.

When such a grandmother tries to entice her grammar school grandchildren into illicit affairs with her, and flaunts her misbehavior before the public, one's first thought is that she ought to undergo an intelligence test.

Since I had to deal with her case at long range, so to speak, for she was in a distant city, I gave Lucille my first impressions.
Syphilis Or The Devil
First, I advised a good medical examination of her mother, including a test of her blood and spinal fluid with reference to syphilis. It isn't unusual for a respectable member of society to show such a radical change in personality at the age of 50 to 60.

This lack of moral judgment may also be matched by a reduction in business judgment. A man or woman afflicted with syphilis of the brain, may begin to dissipate the fortune which he has spent a lifetime accumulating.

He may develop grandiose ideas, and pass out $100 bills to all takers. He may sell his property for a song, and show obvious derangement of his previous good judgment.

He may also show a childish disregard for the feelings of his family and friends.
Dementia Vs. Feeble-mindedness
A person who has been intelligent but later loses his mental alertness by injury, disease or chemical poisons, is called demented. His former adult intelligence may be reduced to that of a kindergarten youngster or less.

A feeble-minded person upon reaching adulthood, may also have the mentality of only a 5-year-old, but he never possessed greater intelligence at any time. Lucille's mother may be demented.

She acts much like a demented syphilitic. If her degeneracy is based on such findings, then she needs medical treatment and her immorality can thus be excused on an organic basis.
If, however, she is normal in abstract intelligence and health, then we would classify her as a psychopathic personality, meaning a person devoid of morals and a right bower for the devil.

Play Called For Highest Club Cards

BY ELY CULBERTSON

Dear Mr. Culbertson: For some years I have noticed—with disapproval, often disgust—that you are highly chivalrous in your treatment of feminine mistakes. Every time you publish a letter signed by a Miss or Mrs. you pull your punches where the bids or plays of the actual correspondent are concerned and lambast her partner, who usually is masculine.

"Now I demand redress for my entire sex! I am bruised and bleeding from an encounter with an amazon partner and I expect you to tell her off properly, in print. She was the declarer (South) in the following hand:

"The bidding:
North 1 club Pass South 2 no trump Pass West 2 no trump Pass East 3 no trump Pass

"West led the heart ten. My jack held and my dear, sweet, precious partner immediately took the club finesse to her jack. West won and, not unnaturally discouraged about the heart situation and seeing very little nourishment in the diamond suit, made the obvious switch to the queen of spades. Need I say that we lost four spade tricks, our contract, the game, and eventually the rubber?"

"I very gently pointed out that the club finesse was a bad play—that the ace and king should have been laid down as a safety measure—and an avalanche hit me! Milady accused me of everything from double-dummy criticism to peeking into West's hand and noting the unguarded condition of his queen, with, of course, a lot of plain and fancy adjectives to embroider her point of view.

"Will you kindly take this matter in hand? And, mind you, this is no time for chivalry! L.B. New York."

HIGH TIDE

Kiddie Frock

YESTERDAY: Jan sets Derek to work in her kitchen. The others, annoyed by Derek's puzzling behavior, want Jan to tell him to "clear out."

Chapter Eight
JOB FOR DEREK

"I won't fall in love with him," Jan assured her brother and Norma. "I'm much too level-headed, too busy, too practical. Besides, he informed me last night he was thankful I wasn't beautiful. He seems not a bit impressed by me or my musical talent. He heard me playing Schubert this afternoon and looked at me as if he'd like to lock me in a deep, dark dungeon!"

"Oh, you're practical enough," Lance conceded, "but you do have the wildest imagination. I don't doubt for a minute that you fancy him a shipwrecked pirate king or something equally as far from the truth."

"Well, pirate king or bank robber, he's going to learn to wash dishes," Jan asserted. "And tomorrow I'm going to get him a job if I can."

Captain Tupples, master of a fleet of fishing barges, grunted a welcome to Jan when she perched on his desk in the ticket office at the end of the pier. He was a sour-visaged, grizzled man with a vas contempt for the "tender-toot" who lot more fish get away than he ever caught. However, two dollars was two dollars, whether an amateur or professional fisherman paid it for a day's fishing. The thing which disgusted Cap Tupples most of all was the prevalence of seasickness among his passengers. That cardinal sin, in his opinion, was far worse than losing a fierce barracuda or a sportive sailfish.

"Captain," said Jan, swinging her sandaled feet. "I want you to give a friend of mine a job. He's young and strong and willing. To herself she added, 'willing—I hope!'"

Cap grunted deep down in his leathery, wrinkled throat. "Experienced?"

"Not very, but I'm sure he could learn quickly if you show him what to do."

Cap squinted up at her from under overhanging gray brows and shifted his wad of tobacco from one leather-hided cheek to the other. "That no-good life-guard got anything to do with this?" he demanded. "He minds everybody's business but his own."

Jan knew better than to defend Frank to Cap Tupples. Their feud dated back to the time three years ago when Frank, in line of duty, reported Cap for his negligence in providing sufficient life-buoys and lifebelts for his passengers in case one of his old tubs should meet catastrophe. The police harbor patrol, investigating, had forced Cap to outlay money he regarded with far too much fondness.

An amorphous gleam appeared in Jan's eyes as she said innocently: "As a matter of fact, Cap, Frank insisted you wouldn't give this fellow a job."

Cap stopped chewing and leaned forward, planting the shiny blue elbows of his Captain's coat on the table. "He did, eh? Well, you just march your young man down here tomorrow morning and we'll see about it. Of course it's early yet and not much doing in the week, but I think I can use him Saturdays and Sundays. Two dollars a day," he bargained, his eyes shrewd.

"Four dollars a day," she said, her round chin stubborn.

They settled on three.
Love Versus Music
Jubilant, she turned toward home, her small toes peeking out of the beach sandals, curling against chill. Six dollars a week would pay for his food and he should be able, if he had the least bit of gumption, to pick up odd jobs for week days to earn his cigarette and spending money.

It was past noon and she was hungry and the prospects of delightful food were slim unless she got hold of Johnny and his rent money before he went to rehearsal this afternoon. It was a good day to worry, she thought wryly, turning her head to look at the somber sky and somber sea. The ceiling of fog was too on lead. Obviously, these included guarding against a doubleton or singleton club queen in West's hand—the only condition declarer could control.

But in all fairness it must be admitted that this sort of safety play is not generally known or appreciated, hence I cannot be too harsh on the alleged "amazon." And anyway, just incidentally, why didn't my correspondent make the correct opening bid—one no trump—and play the hand himself?

BY ANNE ADAMS

All dressed up to go anywhere... or ready for a romp in the sun—Pattern 4378 covers both occasions! It's an Anne Adams Kiddie design, which means original style, and easy, quick sewing. Those two front panels that may be on the bias form a scalloped neckline with their rounded tops. The frock may have either band-finished, puffed sleeves or wispy, cool flared sleeves. Perforations show you how easy it is to cut the sleeveless sun version, with its low back. Be sure to stitch up the included panties, too. Why not use dainty lace and buttons on the dress; colorful facings for the sun-frock? Hurry—order this pattern in the "nick of summertime!"

Pattern 4378 is available in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6, frock, takes 2 yards 35 inch fabric; sundress, 2 yards 35 inch fabric.

low and too heavy even to hope the sun might penetrate, yet there was something exciting about this kind of day. A light mist touched the flawless youthful skin of her face and arms and dampened her hair into elfin curls. As she scuffed gaily over the walk, a true native in her red pullover sweater and faded blue jeans, little whirls of mist caught at her body as if some disembodied spirit wished to make her captive.

Dreadfully, her thoughts adventuring for the moment, she stepped lightly into the house. She stopped, startled. Music flung itself at her, pinning her against the door.

Derek sat at the grand piano playing Beethoven's Sonata Pathétique with unrestrained hungry violence. As she listened, immobile, his fingers crashed on the chords, raced through the allegro, touched heavily and mockingly the melodious thirds of the Andante Movement, crashed again on the chords preceding more allegro.

Safely beyond his sight she listened with racing heart. This man, she thought, is a master of technique, but not—not an artist. He does not feel the pathos and beauty and majesty which Beethoven wove with notes. He seems not to play with the knowledge that Beethoven, stone dead, wrote those notes with his heart and soul and mind! That every movement, every tone of the great composer's music carries a message to be faithfully interpreted.

Derek's interpretation was sacrilege, travesty.

He stopped playing suddenly. "It's no use!" he cried out in fear. Jan crept softly toward the doorway, hoping he would be too absorbed to notice her. But as she started upward he called to her, his voice rasping. "I know you heard, Jan. Come here and tell me the truth. You seem an honest person, young McInerney."

"You must have studied and practiced since childhood," she smiled, going to him. "I've never heard a more finished technique."

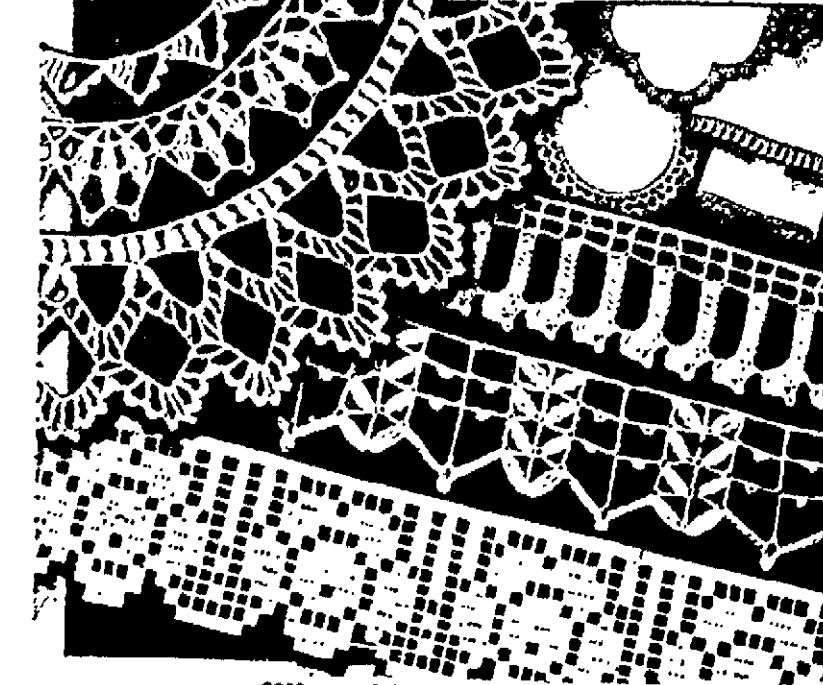

"Finished, I know I have technique, but I'm finished. I wanted to be a concert pianist, Jan. I studied in Berlin, Leipzig, Paris, Rome. Music was my life, my love, everything. Great achievements were prophesied for me, then—I lost the

Church Groups Will Receive Holy Sacrament

Christian Mothers, St. Anne's Societies To Attend Early Mass

Christian Mothers and St. Anne's societies of St. Peter and Paul Catholic church, Porterville, will attend the 7:30 mass and receive holy communion in a body Sunday morning.

The second mass will be at 9 o'clock. During the mass of July and August last mass will be celebrated only on a second Sunday of each month. Holy Name society communion day.

"Waste Not the Harvest" is a sermon subject of the Rev. L. T. Foreman, pastor of Community Baptist church, Hortonville, for the 10 o'clock morning service Sunday. The Latin Mass will be celebrated at this service. During the Bible school period at 9 o'clock the lesson will be on Job. Texted to Donat God - Goodness.

A German service will be held at 5:30 Sunday morning at Immanuel Lutheran church, Black Creek. The sermon topic is "Exaltation of the Apostle Paul to Live as True Servants of God." Sunday school will be at 10:30.

St. John's Evangelical church, Black Creek, will have Sunday school at 9 o'clock and regular services at 10 o'clock morning. The sermon will be on "God's Rod of Punishment." The quarterly congregational meeting will be held after the service. The Evangelical league will meet at 8 o'clock to night and the choir will sponsor a cream social July 11 on the church.

Church Meeting
Services will be at 8:45 Sunday morning at St. John's church, town of Cicero. A congregational meeting will follow.

Low mass will be celebrated at 8 o'clock Sunday morning at St. Mary Catholic church, Black Creek, and high mass at 10 o'clock at St. Denis church, Shotton. Christian Mothers society of St. Mary church will meet next Thursday.

Bethlehem Lutheran church, Hortonville, will have English services at 9 o'clock Sunday morning. Next Thursday afternoon and evening there will be a meeting of the Lutheran Ladies Aid society in the church parlor. Announcement for German communion will take place Thursday also.

Calls Attention to Law on Bird Killing

County Agent J. F. Magnus today called attention to the state law regarding the shooting of certain species of birds. He has received a number of requests from persons regarding what species of birds may be killed.

All birds are protected by law except the following on which the state conservation commission has declared there is no closed season: snowy owl, horned owl, sharp-shinned hawk, Cooper's hawk, goshawks, crows, kingfishers, starlings, red-winged black birds, cowbirds, bronzed grackles and English sparrows.

Today and Tomorrow

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

On The Fourth of July

The question is whether nations governed by two or more political parties can preserve their independence and the liberties of their people. A generation ago the question would have seemed academic. It is a poignant question today. Democracy, which in practice means government by parties, has disappeared from the continent of Europe; it has been destroyed by revolution in the totalitarian states and then overwhelmed by conquest in the other states. Only Britain remains, and there in this desperate hour the party system is suspended.

It is no longer possible, then, to take it for granted that the party system will necessarily keep a nation independent and free. For it is obvious that there are grave weaknesses in the party system, that it is a system of corruption, which can if they are not eradicated, destroy not only the party system but the nation's independence and the social order and the personal liberty of its citizens. It is no use our refusing to examine this truth by crying out that to recognize the weakness of the party system is to play into the hands of its enemies.

The weaknesses which democracies refuse to acknowledge are well known to their enemies and the weaknesses that democracies fail to remedy will be exploited by their enemies. We shall not clean the house by sweeping the dust under the sofa.

And since we are entering a political campaign here at a moment when democracy elsewhere is making its last stand, we shall do well to stop, look, and listen before we let party politics run wild.

Washington Warned Against Such Dangers

In Washington's farewell address there is a passage which is not often quoted in the party conventions. It is the passage in which Washington warned the American people "in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of party generally." For in the popular forms

Chemical Spray Can Be Used to Eradicate Small Bindweed Areas

Spraying with sodium chlorate is a practical method of eradicating small patches of field bindweed, according to Purdue extension botanists in a bulletin to J. F. Magnus, Outagamie county agent.

The practicability of its use on extensive areas is doubtful due to the high cost of the chemical. Under most conditions, approximately four pounds a square rod or 800 pounds to an acre are required for complete eradication. The average cost of spraying is about $70 an acre in Indiana which is argument enough for eradicating bindweed while the infested areas still are small.

4-H Club Leaders to Meet at Black Creek

Outagamie county 4-H club leaders will meet Wednesday evening, July 10, at the Black Creek village hall and make final preparations for the county 4-H club camp at Hortonville. The leaders also will plan for the demonstration and judging contests at Seymour Aug. 1 and for the county fair.

Junkyards Are Council Issue

Action on Ordinance Deferred Until Next Meeting at Waupaca

Waupaca — The problem of the junkyards was again before the city council Tuesday evening, but action on an ordinance to set the license for such yards at $1 a year, a reduction from the $10 fee, was deferred to the next meeting. Alderman Stanley Wetherbee stressed that the license fee is not for the purpose of making money, but will regulate opening of any more such places. One resident told the council that rats, vermin and rabbits which have made their habit in that junkyard for the last twenty years, cause much depredation to shrubbery and gardens. Another declared he shot eighty rabbits a year ago that came onto his premises.

Erle Whipple again presented a bill of $17.00 to the city for expenses incurred when he attended the school of assessors at Madison last November. The bill has previously been refused, as it was again, by recommendation of the finance committee which declared no authorization had been given for the city assessor to attend the school.

City relief bills for the month totaled $397.70; transient relief, $258.58. The bills, which included medical care, were allowed.

June Age Pensions $18,759.50 in County

Waupaca — Old age assistance grants during the last month totaled $18,759.50, a slight increase over May when the checks issued amounted to $18,511.50. Dependent children's aid was $6,615.28 for June and $6,397.40 for May. One death among the blind brought that total down to $312 from the $330 of the previous month.

cessor, allows himself to, and does not firmly restrain his supporters from, selling out the national interest at a public auction. Therefore, Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Willkie have in their power to determine whether this campaign is to be a disgrace and a disaster or whether it is to be a convincing demonstration that the democratic system can rise to great occasions.

Both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Willkie know that if democracy cannot be made to work here in America it will perish from the earth. The question is whether they will lift their parties above the evils of partisan fury. They can do it. No one else can. And so, if ever two men had a solemn personal responsibility to put aside all petty things, it is Franklin Roosevelt and Wendell Willkie. They will determine by what they do and by the example they set whether this election in the midst of the supreme crisis of popular government is to be a noble vindication of the virtues of democracy or an ignoble demonstration of its fatal vices.

Universal Fingerprinting Idea Looks Good to Pegler

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York — The practical reason for fingerprinting the 3,500,000 aliens in the United States are not quite clear to me, but they were sufficient to persuade congress in the debate on the law which now requires this large additional bloc of residents to leave this record with the government. However, this is a half-measure, because the anti-Americans among the alien population are no more dangerous than naturalized but un-Americanized immigrants, of whom there are many at large, or native citizens who promote fascism, national socialism and communism. The anti-American un-Americanized alien would seem to be the least dangerous, because he must watch his behavior, whereas naturalized and native-born conspirators against the American form of government know that at least they cannot be deported. The most arrogant and impudent enemies of the nation in the anti-American band, the various fascist groups, the Communist party and those reptilian gangs which debase the Christian symbol and the stars and stripes by flaunting them over their evil ceremonies are citizens of the United States.

The citizenship of naturalized enemy conspirators may be revoked under some conditions, but only after long and difficult litigation, and the citizenship of a native cannot be revoked at all, although, of course, it can be impaired by his conviction of a felony. The problem could be simplified by the fingerprinting of the whole population, and the objections to that are not as strong as they seem when it is remembered that millions of the best Americans are finger-printed already and permanently. Every one who serves in the armed forces, which may be regarded as the whole patriotic body of the whole population, willingly gives his prints as a matter of routine on entering the service.

HIGH TIDE

By Frances Hanna

feeling for it. I became a skilled mechanical robot. No one would pay to hear me twice and I knew it. "I will compose, then," I thought.

I wrote a concerto, a symphony, an opera. I knew even before they were finished I would never permit them an audition. Jan, my playing has no heart, no soul, no emotion! Why? Why? You have it. Your Schubert tore into my heart. What is wrong with me, Jan? His eyes were piteous, yet savage with rebellion.

"Perhaps," she said slowly, wanting terribly to comfort him, "something went wrong with your own heart and soul."

"I have none!" he shouted at her in swift, dark anger. "Maybe I did have once, but I gave them to a woman and she destroyed them!" "Don't, Derek, don't say that!"

"Well, it's the truth and I don't care who knows it! If it hadn't been for her—I'll never touch the piano again. Never!" He jumped from the bench and flung through the door.

"So it is a woman," Jan mused, hurt, inexplicably saddened. "A woman and love and music and creative ability. He's thwarted, frustrated. And he would be dead because of it if I hadn't been curious."

She trembled with the immensity of what she'd done in saving him. Saved him for what purpose? To send him strong and sane back to the world where he belonged, and where she did not? And could she do it even if she would? A great humbleness chastened her, made her thoughtful. Pity for him took hold of her, yet pity was only a small portion of the unknown and terrifying emotion to which her heart was now giving birth.

Simply Purse

Johnny squirmed. "Gee, Jan, I got into a poker game at the club last night and lost my shirt! Can you wait till Friday for my rent?"

Jan was vexed and when she was vexed, worried or angry she pushed her defiant mop of hair behind her ears and elevated her small, stubborn chin. "Johnny, how many times have I reminded you that all gamblers die broke! I simply can't wait two days. How about a few dollars on account?"

"Honey, I'm clean as a picked chicken. I'm lucky I get my meals furnished at the club. It isn't as if I put you off very often. Two days isn't long."

"I suppose not, but it seems like two years when my purse is empty. You wouldn't be stony if you didn't have that guy hanging around here eating and loafing. He woke me up banging the piano a while ago and I didn't get to sleep until dawn. Why don't you get rid of him? What good is he?"

Jan, hit on a spot which was fast becoming far too vulnerable, retorted, "That's my business."

He caught her arm as she turned away. "If you need money bad, I'll try and borrow it at rehearsal."

She flushed, resentful she had to pry money from him when he owed her twenty dollars for a month's rent. "It might be a good idea," she said.

"In addition to these millions of citizens many other Americans, presumably of law-abiding character, have given their prints. Among them are included many of the police, civil employees of the national government and some city governments, civil employees of some states and taxi-drivers."

Would Be Easy To Make It Unanimous
So, one way or another, we have acquired the fingerprints of so large a proportion of the population without perceptible injury to their rights that it would be easy to make it unanimous.

The objection to fingerprinting arises almost entirely from the fact that the public associates this process with criminal identification exclusively.

In Washington, however, the prints of criminals held in the files of the FBI are kept separate from the military files and the FBI's voluntary file. It is said that the FBI's voluntary, or clean, file is never consulted for identification when the prints of suspects are sent in by the police of various cities. This may be so, but as to that we have to trust the conscience of the FBI, and some matters have given rise to doubt concerning the sanctity of confidences entrusted to this glamorized bureau. But it is known that the military files are not readily accessible to the FBI, being shielded by law from regulation from inspection by the G-men for purposes of criminal identification.

There is no reason to continue this separation. All prints should be available for criminal identification and it certainly is unjust to compel the armed forces to give their prints and carry dog tags and identification papers while millions of civilians, including those who are capable of treason or other dangerous mischief, are excused on the ground that some obscure but beautiful right might be impaired.

It comes to a question whether a potential spy, saboteur or conspirator against all the rights for which army and navy men are asked to fight should be given greater consideration than those who serve under arms or in various civil positions of the government. And the most important purpose of fingerprinting is defeated at the start if the prints are not made fully available for criminal identification.
